According to Dr. L. Mason, Vice-President of the American Society for the Study of Inebriety, Alcohol and Drug Neorosis, the habit of a too copious use of water, externally or internally, is very dangerous. He describes it as "Dangerous as over indulgence in alcohol." Dr. Mason further says:

"I have a friend who is a victim of aquamania; he spends hours in a bath-tub and drinks so much water that he has reduced the solids of his body and worked serious injury to himself. Many men and women drink too much water and are victims of that form of intoxication."

Moral: Drink Lemp's Beer. It is the right kind of beer, properly aged before being placed on the market—a food and a tonic. Once you test it for yourself, you will invariably call for a bottle of Lemp's Beer at your club, restaurant or hotel and instruct your licensed grocer or dealer to supply none but Lemp's for home use. MUCH TROUBLE IS THREATENED

Attitudes of Nationalist Members and Suffragettes Give Promise of Annoyance for Asquith Government

FORMER MAY VOTE AGAINST BUDGET

Suffragettes Say They Have Plans Laid for More Vigorous Compaign Than Any Previous One

LONDON, June 28.—In the Commons today Premier Asquith said he hoped the declaration bill would be regarded as uncontroversial. The present declaration could not fail to be offensive, not only to Roman Catholics, but to the sovereign. They were proposing to substitute a declaration which, instead of singling out for repudiation the cherished doctrines of the Roman Catholic church, simply affirmed that the sovereign was a faithful member of the Protestant church. The dangers against which the old declaration proposed to guard did not now exist

It is understood that the Irish members have decided to vote against the Budget unless they are satisfied that there will be no compromise on the veto question.

After months of comparative inactivity, the militant suffragettes are coming to life again and are threatening another campaign more vigorous than ever, if their leaders are to be believed. The imediate cause of the projected crusade is the refusal of Mr Asquith to accede to their demand that the equal suffrage bill now pending in the commons, shall be pushed. According to Mrs. Pankhurst, the plans for the movement have all been completed, and will go into operation unless the Prime Minister recedes from his position The Woman Suffrage league, which is distinct from the one in which Mrs. Pankhurst is active, has made the announcement that a large number of women taxpayers have agreed to refuse to pay their taxes unless they are permitted to vote.

VANCOUVER, June 28.—By an overwhelming majority of four to one, the Great Northern Railway False Creek reclamation bylaw was passed by Vancouver citizens today.

Under the terms of the agreement between the city and the railway, the latter is given 61 acres of False Creek foreshore land on which to erect a million dollar depot and install freight terminals and yards.

The Great Northern now has about 200 acres of central terminal grounds, of which much has been given by the city.

HOLD CONFERENCES

Representatives of Trainmen Talk With C.P.R. and Grand Trunk Officials.

MONTREAL, June 28—Conferences were held today between representatives of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific railways and representatives of the Trainmen's and Conductors' unions, and while nothing definite has resulted a more conciliatory spirit seems to provail as the result of the conference, and it is hoped that out of further conferences which are to be held some compromise will follow.

The representatives of the men had a couple of hours' conference with President Fitzhugh, of the Grand Trunk, and subsequently held a conference with Vice-President McNichol of the Canadian Pacific, who returned to the city today and took charge of the negotiations on behalf of the company. At the conference with Vice-President Fitzhugh of the Grand Trunk the men's representatives demanded the adoption of the standard rate for territory east of Chicago, but the representative of the company absolutely declined to agree to this, pointing out that the conditions of the road were quite different from those governing the other railways in question. As soon as the conditions should become equal it was stated that the company would consider the matter of standardization of wages, but not until then. No definite counter offer was made by the company, but tentative offers were submitted to the men's representatives which may pave the way for a compromise.

VANCOUVER, June 28.—Material for the largest gold dredge in the world is now being shipped from Vancouver to Dawson. The plant will be installed on Bear creek, at the mouth of the Klondike river. It is planned to have the hull of the dredge assembled and the machinery in place in time to make some test runs before the end of the present season, so that everything may be in shape to start permanent operations as soon as Bear creek opens next spring. The dredge is owned by the Canadian Klondike Mining company, which controls a large area of ground on Bear creek. All the material entering into the construction of the hull of the dredge is being purchased in Vancouver. Over 500,000 feet of lumber will be contained in the hull of the dredge.

FIVE MEN KILLED BY GAS EXPLOSION

Saloon Near Minneapolis Wrecked and Burned—Two Men Likely to Die From Injuries Received

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 28.—Five men were killed and 11 injured, two of them probably fatally, by an explosion which first wrecked and then set fire to the saloon of Edward Bushay, five miles north of Minneapolis, on the Anoka road this evening.

The identified dead are: Eugene Hamlin, Edward Hammish and Charles Siggelkow, all residents of Minneapolis. Two bodies remain unidentified.

Edward Bushay, the proprietor of the place, and George Miller were so badly burned that they will die.

The explosion of a gas tank in the basement blew the roof from the building, and fire immediately started. In half an hour the building was a mass of burning wreckage. Ernest Osterhild, a porter, rescued both Bushay and Miller from death in the fire.

GOLD STORY GROWS WHILE IT TRAVELS

Report of Discovery at Portland Canal Now Exciting Londoners—South Africa Also Gives it Attention

LONDON, June 28.—The discovery of gold in British Columbia has caused considerable excitement here. Headlines in the press comprise "Miles of Gold," "British Eldorado of Fabulous Wealth," "Mammoth Reefs."

The agent general of British Columbia has had hundreds of enquirers, to whom he states that he has no official confirmation of the reported discovery, but a rush from London has already started.

A Capetown despatch says the majority of newspapers there devote leaders to the reported discovery. The Cape Argus says: "If the find is as rich as has been stated the world's growing hunger for gold will permit of its absorption without causing any serious disturbance of prices or preventing the profitable exploitation of low grade ore, which is so important to South Africa."

The news has not affected the general market for gold shares.

ALLEGED ORE STEALERS

Two Men Arrested at Cobalt on Charge of "High Grading"—Admitted to Bail.

COBALT, Ont., June 28.—Two arrests were made in connection with alleged "high grading" in carloads of ore from the Lucky Godfrey mine at Elk Lake. These are George E. Gordon Rogers, captain of the mine, and William Acker, an ore sorter. A shipment was made in April, just before the winter roads broke up, and it was all high grade ore, the value of eighteen tons being estimated at $40,000 When the ore arrived at the smelter at Thorold the bags were found to contain country rock and low grade vein matter, and to be worth about $5,000 instead of $40,000 It is expected that the men will be charged with stripping all the high grade ore from the vein at the sorting table, and placing it in bags apart, where, it is alleged, night by night they could take it away and cache it, in the meantime filling the sacks with low grade ore and rock. The accused have been admitted to bail in $5,000 each.

U. S. Treasury Ruling.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Secretary of the Treasury McVeogh has ruled that certain importations containing about 5 per cent. of merino wool and 90 to 95 per cent goat hair brought to the United States on what are commonly called capskins, from South Africa, and which are of Persian origin, are properly dutiable at 3 cents per pound. The courts had held that such importations are dutiable at ten cents a pound, as merino wool. The Gloversville, N. Y., and other glove interests were represented at hearing which the secretary gave on the subject today. The skins on which the wool come are used in the manufacture of gloves and it was contended that if importers were required to pay the high rate of ten cents, it would seriously interfere with their business.

HINDUS OFFER STRONG PROTEST

Proposal to Deport Prominent Member of Vancouver Colony Objected to—G. D. Kumar Is Active

VANCOUVER, June 28.—The Hindus of this city tonight held an indignation meeting over the threatened deportation of a prominent member of their colony. He came to Vancouver from Honolulu five months ago, entering as a tourist, but has since engaged in business here. Now the local immigration authorities are endeavoring to deport him on the ground that he did not come by direct passage from India.

The protest of the meeting, which was cabled to Lord Morley, and Lord Minto and wired to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, is as follows:

"Hindustani association, Vancouver, in special meeting protest against the action of local Dominion immigration officials regarding the threatened unlawful deportation of Mr. H. Rahim, a British subject and a respectable Mohammedan merchant, manager of the Canada India Trust comapny, here, and holding landed property. As British subjects we demand our inalienable right to reside and move freely in the British empire, and request immediate redress against the high handed, impolitic and empire-breaking action of the local authorities.

(Signed) G. D. KUMAR,
Secretary of Meeting.

Makes Strange Statement

LONDON, June 28.—The summary of an interview with Sir A. Douglas, cabled from Montreal, is widely published here. In it the admiral charges Canadians holding responsible positions under the Crown with harboring the idea of annexation to the United States in their hearts, and says that as long as that feeling existed in the minds of those responsible for making and enforcing the laws, Americans would be welcomed to the exclusion of Britishers. It is asserted by some papers here that the remarks attributed to the admiral are inaccurate.

CROP CONDITIONS ARE ENCOURAGING

Weekly Reports of Canadian Northern Railway Say That Wheat Is Doing Well—Heavy Yield Expected

WINNIPEG, June 28.—According to the weekly crop reports issud by the Canadian Northern Railway today covering the system in the prairie provinces, the wheat has never before at this period of the year been in such a flourishing condition as at present.

From nearly all points comes the news that great advance has been made and that the weather of late, hot as it has been, has not damaged the crops. In fact, on the contrary, it has improved matters considerably, and farmers throughout the west are expecting a yield which will eclipse former years by many thousands of bushels.

Optimism is the keynote of success, and the whole farming community is confident, according to these reprts, that the crop will be phenomenally big this year.

GIANT AIRSHIP IS NOW A WRECK

Lies on Tops of Trees, With Silk Torn and Metal Frames Twisted—Its Occupants Escape Uninjured

CAUGHT IN STORM DRIFTS HELPLESS

Mishap Caused by Failure of Motor and Shortage of Gasoline — Company Suffers Considerable Loss

DUSSELDORF, June 28.—Count Zeppelin's passenger airship Deutschland, the highest developed of all the famous models by Count Zeppelin, lies tonight on top of the Teutoburger forest, pierced by stems of pine trees, a mass of deflated silk and twisted aluminum.

The 33 persons on board, after a wild contest with the storm, escaped uninjured.

Herr Colesmann, general manager of the new airship company, Chief Engineer Duerr, of the Zeppelin company, Captain Kannenberg, who had personally charge of the crew of ten, and twenty newspaper men, sailed from Dusseldorf at 8:30 o'clock this morning for a three hours' excursion.

The objective point was Dortmund, about 35 miles from Dusseldorf, but a high head wind prevailed, and an effort was made to reach muster, a garrison town, so that a landing might be made on the parade ground by the aid of the soldiers, as it was realized that it would require a large number of men to hold the vast airship against the wind. It was dangerous to attempt a landing in an open field because of the storm, as the metal parts were likely to pound to pieces. In the high wind one of the motors refused to work, and the other two were not powerful enough to stand the gale. The airship drifted, swaying in the gale, and sometimes leaning to an angle of forty degrees, and all the while the enginemen were at work repairing the disabled motor. When this was done all four screws were driven at their full power under which in normal conditions the airship was capable of attaining a speed of forty miles an hour. The helmsman, however, was unable to keep his course, and the great craft was swung around for fear of overturning.

Suddenly he perceived a whirlwind

LYNN, Mass., June 28.—Harboring the belief that he will surely be executed for his part in the killing of Thomas A. Landregan and policeman James H. Carroll on Saturday, Charles Wasiliki Ituanowiski, one of the bandits, today wrote a letter to his mother in Russia. The letter in part read as follows: "I write now that I have been arrested and in quick time will be sentenced to death but what for, what cause, I will not write you. So I bid farewell. Please forgive me for not obeying you but now it is too late."

The condition of Andy Abson, one of the bandit trio, who is now in the Lynn hospital suffering from half a dozen bullet wounds is unchanged and he may recover.

FIFTH REGIMENT BACK FROM CAMP

Excellent Showing Made in Last Night of Firing—Fifty-five Hits Out of Possible of Sixty.

The Fifth Regiment C. G. A., under command of Lieut.-Col. A. W. Currie, which for the past sixteen days has been undergoing its annual summer training under canvas at Macauley and Esquimalt, No. 1 company being encamped at Esquimalt and Nos. 2 and 3 at Macauley, struck camp last night after No. 3 company had completed its competitive practice with the twelve pounder field battery which was recently added to the armament of the local artillerymen. Headed by the regimental band the regiment marched from Macauley after striking camp, and the militiamen presented a smart appearance as they marched through the city. The effect of the training was apparent.

Last night No. 3 company had its firing, and sixty rounds of shrapnel were fired at targets in Royal Roads. The practice, according to the reports of the observers, was excellent, the great percentage of the rounds following the ranging series being effective. One round broke the flag from the target. The practice was observed by a large number of people, and among the onlookers were Hon. T. W. Paterson, Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. William Templeman, minister of inland revenue, G. H. Barnard, M.P., who attended with Col. Peters, D.O.C.

After the return to the drill hall, Lieut.-Col. A. W. Currie complimented the regiment on its appearance after the completion of the training, and said that he had not the slightest doubt but that, when the results of the competitive shooting were made known, that the gunners of the Fifth Regiment would have maintained their place as the best in the Dominion of Canada.

The battery practices this year were very good, especially those of No. 1 and No. 3 companies.

Good Showing

Sixty rounds—fifty-five hits. This was the splendid record made by No. 1 company of the Fifth Regiment, Major Angus, on Monday night with the twelve pounder quick-firing guns of the ante-torpedo battery at Black Rock, Esquimalt. Three series, each of twenty rounds, were fired from two guns, and excellent practice was maintained. Lieut.-Col. Peters, D.O. C., and Capt. Elliston, O.C. R.C.G.A., both highly complimented the militia gunners on the results of their competitive practice.

The regulation targets were taken out early in the evening behind the army tug Beryl and she passed at a range increasing from 1,700 yards to 2,000 yards, the usual range for ordnance designed to attack torpedo boat raids. The error of the day rounds had been fired on Wednesday evening and the battery entered action with the correction well calculated, so well in fact, that seventeen of the twenty rounds fired were reported by the range officials on board the tug as hits.

The second series, of which Lieut. R. P. Clark took charge, was a record-breaking one. Twenty rounds were fired and all were hits. One shell cut the tow rope between the targets and set the rear target adrift. In the third series, with Lieut. Brace in charge, eighteen hits were secured of twenty rounds.

INDIAN TITLE TO LANDS OF B.C.

Rev. Mr. O'Meara Discusses Important Issue and Pleads for Question to Be Settled in Equitable Manner

With a view to discussing the Indian title to land in British Columbia, a meeting of the society known as the Friends of the Indians was held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church last evening, with the Right Rev. Bishop Perrin presiding. In explaining the object of the society the chairman said its members wished to be sincere in their dealings with the Indians. Absolute and real justice should be done to the natives, and their rights must be secured. He then introduced the Rev. Mr. O'Meara, the speaker of the evening.

In opening, the speaker said it had been stated that the rights of the Indians, as far as land was concerned, were extinguished coincident with the assumption of British authority over Canada. But this statement was contradicted by a proclamation of George III., which said that Indian rights were to be retained, protected and kept under the sovreignty of Britain. It was said that the Crown could not make a treaty with Indian tribes. The proclamation of George III. referred to pointed out that that Crown could make treaties with Indians. It was further stated that the provincial legislature, exercising sovereign power, had absolute control over public lands. But then the Imperial Parliament created the legislature of this province, and the latter only had such powers as were conferred upon it. In enactments of the British Parliament made between the years 1803 and 1858 British Columbia was expressly regarded as a territory of the Indians. In section 169 of the British North America Act it was stated that public lands shall belong to the province subject to any interest other than that of the province.

Report Made

The question of the Indian title was dealt with in a report made by the Department of Justice in 1875. This report showed that the Indians had never made any cession of their territorial rights and that it was impossible to deny them these. This title of the Indians was an interest other than that of the province to the land. It was stated that the Indians were the wards of the Dominion Government, and that consequently they could not possess a title to the land. The answer to that was that there was nothing to show that the Indians were the wards of the Dominion. The Ottawa Government looked after the property and interests of the Indians and had assumed certain obligations in these respects by treaty. In British Columbia the government had no treaties with the Indians. Indian lands here had not been put in trust by the Dominian government. In the Indian Act there was not a single word which took away the title from the natives.

The evidence of history pointed to a distinct recognition of the Indian title to land. The Supreme Court of the United States has decided that the Indian tribes were to be regarded as domestic dependent nations. The present issue was one between the Indian tribes and the provincial government. The natives claimed the protection of the Dominion government and, if necessary, were ready to appeal to the Imperial authorities. As far back as 1861 there had been an appeal to the Imperial government to extinguish the Indian title. In 1887 there existed between the Indians of the Naas district and the provincial government the same situation as today.

A Broad Question

Continuing, the speaker said that he regarded the present issue not merely as one dealing with the title, but as one which had a scope as wide as the Empire itself. In it was involved the question of how the native races should be treated. The question was one dealing with principles as wide as humanity itself. He and others like him had been told that methods such as the present meeting would lead to the issue being decided by force. In his opinion the matter should be decided from the standpoint of justice. For forty years a feeling of injustice had been smouldering in the hearts of the Indians in this province. This feeling had now burst into flame. The cry of the natives was that they wanted justice. He believed that this cry would appeal to all Britishers.

The speaker on concluding his address was asked a number of questions. One interlocutor pointed out that George III. and the British government of his time knew as much about British Columbia as the present generation knew about the people on Mars. No resolution was passed at the gathering, which opened and concluded with prayer.

Fort Francis to Appeal.

OTTAWA, June 28.—The town of Fort Francis will go to the railway commission with an appeal against the Minnesota and Ontario Power company being allowed to export power across the border. The claim is that the agreement and the statute have been violated.

SITE COMMISSIONERS LEAVE FOR EAST

Will Hold Final Sessions in Saskatoon—No Expression of Opinion Given—Pleased With Expericces

The members of the university site commission held their final sitting in this province yesterday morning, and in the afternoon took formal leave of Premier McBride, Hon. Dr. Young and Hon. Mr. Bowser, having on Monday evening been the honored guests at a bright and informal reception tendered jointly by the Alexandra and University Women's Clubs. Each and all of the commissioners speak in terms of glowing appreciation of their introduction to British Columbia and their varied experiences at the hands of its hospitable people.

The five commissioners proceed from Vancouver today, by invitation of Principal Murray, to Saskatoon, where it is understood the data collected during their travels will be reviewed, and in all probability the report prepared in which the decision of the Commission locating British Columbia's seat of higher education will be communicated to the Government. While the report is promised "before Christmas" it is expected that it will be in the hands of the government here within six weeks or two months.

In all their communications with the government, individual ministers, and others having business relations with them during their labors, the commission have carefully refrained from expressing any opinions which might be taken as indicative of united or individual preference.

LOGS SEIZED BY THE AUTHORITIES

Another Phase to the Dispute Between the J. S. Emerson Lumber Company and the Provincial Government

Another chapter has been inaugurated in connection with the dispute between the provincial government and the J. S. Emerson Lumber Company of Vancouver, two of whose licenses were recently cancelled by the Executive in consequence of the licensees' violation of the provincial law prohibiting the export foreign of British Columbia unmanufactured timber.

It will be recalled that Mr. Emerson, who is the principal owner in his company, denied the jurisdiction of the government to cancel these licenses. By his direction the employees of his company continued to cut the timber from the lands affected, and seventeen of these men were recently summoned by the government for illegally cutting timber upon the lands of the Crown.

Upon the cases coming to trial preliminarily in the Vancouver police court, Magistrate Bull decided that the matter was one beyond his jurisdiction. The government has now taken action to force a test in a higher court at Mr. Emerson's initiation. Five sections of logs alleged to have been cut from the Emerson claims on Eden Island, have been seized by Mr. Chas. Haslam, of the government patrol boat R. J. Skinner. The logs are now tied up, and the authorities are waiting for Mr. Emerson to make the next move.

DROWNS WHEN CANOE TURNS TURTLE

Mr. J. Petersen Is Victim of Boating Accident Off Work Point—Companion Rescued by Passing Tug

Their canoe turning turtle three hundred yards from shore opposite Work Point barracks, Mr. John Petersen, a Scandanavian was drowned yesterday afternoon shortly after 1 o'clock, while his companion Mr. F. B. Richardson was rescued by members of the crew of the tug Daisy, which happened to be passing at the time of the accident.

The two men had taken the craft from the harbor, and were paddling about opposite the barracks. Petersen had been talking to his companion telling him hard luck stories when for some unknown reason he sat up on the edge of the canoe, which turned over, precipitating both its occupants into the sea. Both seized the upturned craft, and clung to it, Petersen remarking to his companion that he was sorry he had tilted the canoe. Richardson was a strong swimmer, and after a while he swam away from the canoe with the intention of going ashore and getting aid. He had scarcely made a dozen strokes when he heard a groan, and looking round saw Petersen throw up his hands and go down. He immediately swam back and over the spot where his companion had sunk. Looking through the water he saw Petersen's hands pointing upwards, and endeavored to seize them, but his own hands were so numbed by the icy water that he was unable to obtain a grasp.

Captain A. E. Lewis, of the tug Daisy, which was passing at the time with a scow in tow saw the upturned canoe, and making for it put off a boat, Richardson being dragged aboard. With the aid of a pike pole Petersen was located in about twelve feet of water, and drawn on board, but life was found to be extinct.

The rescued man was landed at Work Point, after which the tug proceeded to the city with the body of Petersen, upon which an inquest will be held.

Mr. Richardson was little the worst for his immersion. But little is known in the city of the drowned man, who is believed to have lived here for a few years past. He was about 32 years of age, and as far as is known had no relatives in Victoria.

SEEKS AIRSHIP FOR FT. GEORGE

Colonization Interests Would in This Manner Solve Transportation Problems—Think it Cheaper

Nowhere else in the world has the inauguration of passenger airship service in Germany been observed with more active and peculiar interest than in this far western province of British Columbia, and more particularly by those directly and actively engaged in the promotion of colonization in New Cariboo, having Fort George as its hub and future capital. The necessity of securing immediate and convenient transportation to this new centre of population is fully appreciated, and the airship is looked upon as offering unique facilities for meeting existing difficulties. In the difficult nature of the country to be traversed in securing connection with established railway facilities the building of roads involves a question of time, and time-saving is extra important at the present juncture. If airships can be employed to connect Fort George with points on the C. P. R., a very obvious difficulty in Cariboo's colonization will be solved. A group of capitalists particularly interested have therefore sent an agent to Berlin to patronize the new German agency of communication and also to investigate all incidental costs in connection with the possible establishment of a similar airship service in Central British Columbia. If satisfactory arrangements can be made, the inauguration of aerial communication between Fort George and Ashcroft may be brought about before the advent of winter, or by next spring at latest.

The German Airship Service covers a route 300 miles in length, and the dirigible employed is stated to be able to travel 700 miles without a stop. The speed on the first trip averaged almost 35 miles an hour, or better than that of the ordinary passenger train on many western railways. The lifting capacity was twenty-two tons, while with twenty passengers the total weight of the load carried was only five tons and a half, this including the weight of the restaurant car and other equipment designed for the comfort of passengers. Such an airship might easily be operated from points on the C. P. R. mainland to the Cariboo, the Chilcotin or Fort George. If two or three stops were made on the way at bases like Quesnel, it would not be necessary to go more than one hundred miles at a single flight en route from Ashcroft to Fort George and vice versa. The time required would be much less and the comfort much greater than by stage, horse, or automobile.

For tickets on the German Airship Line rates run from $25 upwards. These charges will be materially reduced in the near future, but taking everything into consideration, they compare not unfavorably with the passenger rates now prevailing from Nelson to the Pacific Coast—a similar distance in an air line. They are very much lower than the cost of travel in this province by horse or auto stage. To inaugurate a passenger service by airship it is unnecessary to go to the great outlay required in building a railway or even a waggon road. There are a number of points in this province which are not likely to have railway communication for some years. There may be a railway into Quesnel and the Chilcotin within the next five years or there may not. If regular passenger airship service proves practical in Germany, it will be but a very short time before it is duplicated in the colonization of this province.

Vancouver Drydock

OTTAWA, June 28.—An agreement has been practically concluded and will be executed whereby the Vancouver Drydock and Shipbuilding company will receive a subsidy of 3½ per cent on a drydock of the second class in that city. The company previously secured under the old act a subsidy of 3 per cent, but the new act places it in the second class instead of the third class. The subsidy will be paid on an outlay of $2,500,000 for twenty-five years. The company proposes going into shipbuilding, and has also amalgamated with the Imperial Car Manufacturing company.

Talk of Reciprocity

OTTAWA, June 28.—That any treaty of reciprocal arrangement between the United States and Canada will be confined to natural products rather than manufactures is the opinion expressed at Washington, according to an Ottawa man who has just returned from these, and who had an interview with President Taft. The manufacturers' influence is very strong, and they naturally object to any competition save under the general tariff by manufacturers of other countries. Negotiations will be taken up in the fall, probably at the end of September, and will likely be conducted both in Ottawa and Washington.

MANY TO ATTEND PUBLICITY OUTING

Efforts of Development League to Make Affair Biggest of Its Kind Ever Held In Canada

Invitations are being sent to 320 members of the Victoria branch of the Vancouver Island Development League asking them to attend the annual meeting of the organization to be held in Alberni on July 15th. Of this number it is fully expected that over 200 will make the trip. The Hon. W. Templeman, Mr. G. H. Barnard, M. P., and Mr. Ralph Smith, M. P., have signified their intention of being present if possible. The cabinet ministers of the provincial government have also been asked to attend.

The delegates from the different auxiliary branches outside of Victoria are expected to number over a hundred. In addition to the recognized members of the league all citizens who wish to make the trip will be welcomed as it is the intention of the executive, which has the arrangements in hand to make the outing the biggest publicity event of its character ever held in Canada. The occasion will afford an opportunity of investigating the nature of the country, in which much of the railroad construction projected on the island will take place.

Damage by Cloudburst

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 28.—A cloudburst in the mountains of eastern Kentucky last night caused damage estimated at $100,000, swept dwellings from their foundations, destroyed considerable standing timber, and put many residences of that section in peril. So far as can be learned today, no lives were lost. The storm vented its greatest fury in Floyd county. The creeks became torrents in a few minutes.

HIS CERTIFICATE SUSPENDED FOR YEAR

Decision of Marine Court of Inquiry in Case of Captain Alexander Cameron.

VANCOUVER, June 28.—A marine court of inquiry sat yesterday to hold an investigation into the conduct of Captain Alexander Cameron, and the result was that his certificate was suspended for one year.

Instructions were received from Hon L. P. Brodeur, minister of marine and fisheries, to hold a wreck commissioner's court to inquire into the conduct of Captain Cameron at Storm Bay on February 26 last, and Cpat. Eddie, examiner of masters and mates here, was appointed a wreck commissioner for this purpose.

The proceeding is for the commissioner to be aided in his investigations by two nautical assessors, who are master mariners, and associated in the inquiry with Capt. Eddie were Captain W. H. Whittle, R. N. R., master of the steamer Georgia, and Captain W. Ladds, of the steamer Tennyson.

Captain Cameron was represented by J. H. Senkler, and the events of the day in question were fully gone into. At the conclusion of the court Captain Cameron's certificate was suspended for one year.

OFFICERS OF COURTS

Real Estate Men Said to Have Devised Means of Access to Registry Offices.

VANCOUVER, June 28.—That real estate men have at last discovered a method by which to successfully open the doors of the land registry offices to themselves is reported today. By an order issued on June 11 the provincial government declared that only members of the legal profession and officers of the courts were entitled to admission to the records of the land registry offices. It is now stated that failing to find any way to quickly qualify as members of the legal profession, some real estate brokers have done the next best thing—have elevated themselves to the position of officers of the courts by securing appointments as commissioners for the taking of affidavits.

It is reported that a number of these appointments were made yesterday, and that failing any advice to the contrary these commissioners for the taking of affidavits are recognized as officers of the courts entitled to "root around" among the sacred archives in the registry office.

CIVIC MATTERS

The citizens have a right to know how the affairs of the city are being carried on, and therefore the newspapers do right to print what transpires at the meetings of the City Council. But the reports do not always make edifying reading. They indicate that there is a good deal of pulling at cross purposes. This is very much to be regretted, because a feeling of insecurity is thereby created in the minds of the citizens. We are not going to make any specific allegations; we are not going to enter into personalities. All we wish to say is that there does not appear to be that esprit de corps in the municipal government that the citizens have a right to expect, and that will contribute to producing the best resplts.

A very great deal of good work is being done. Most of the Aldermen are devoting a great deal of time and attention to civic matters. The tride they receive for their services is no compensation at all for what they are doing. They are inspired by a sincere desire to do their duty as citizens of "no mean city." But almost every week there is more or less of a disturbance at the Council Board. This is a very unfortunate condition of things and is the subject of a good deal of angry comment on the streets. The worst feature of the case is that it begets want of confidence and may lead ratepayers to refuse to vote money needed for public improvements. We hope for an improvement in the particular referred to.

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

The Board of Trade has been a very useful organization. The work it has accomplished has been varied in its character and of great value as a whole to the community. Yet it does not receive that measure of support which would enable it to achieve the best results. A very large number of prominent people take no part in its affairs; they may or may not be members; but whether they are or not, they leave everything in the hands of a few residents, and confine themselves to criticizing what they do. This is not fair to the Board, fair to the city or fair to the critics themselves. It is very true that as a rule the same people are prominent in the Board year after year; but this is not because they seek the prominence. We do not believe there is a single individual, who has been upon the Council of the Board for the past year, who would not very gladly give place to some one else. There ought to be rotation in such matters, for people get into ruts, it does not make any difference how hard they may try to keep out of them. The members of the Council are not to blame, but rather to be commended. They act upon the Council from a sense of duty, and because others will not come forward and take their places.

We intend for obvious reasons no reflection upon the present Council when we say that we hope new blood will be conspicuous in the make-up of that body during the ensuing year. The Board of Trade has very much to do. Questions of moment to Victoria are becoming more and more numerous and important all the time. The interests of Victoria are becoming more diversified. It is desirable that the management of the Board should be fully representative of all those interests.

THE MILITIA.

The Fifth Regiment broke camp last night. The men have been in camp for sixteen days. The routine in a general way is as follows: The men leave camp in the morning and go to their several occupations; in the evening they dine at the camp and after dinner work until it is dark. They work thoroughly, and the record of the shooting shows how excellent are the results that are attained. If any one is under the impression that the days in camp are all fun, he is very much mistaken. If the boys manage to get a little pleasure out of camping, they are certainly entitled to it. During the rest of the year the members of the Regiment meet at least once a week for drill. The officers qualify themselves by study for the posts they hold, and the whole corps in a very unpretentious way takes its duties seriously and does its best to fit itself to perform them. The consequence is that we have in Victoria, as they have in other parts of the Domonion, an admirable force of trained men, who are fit and ready to do what in them lies to defend the country.

This is a matter for congratulation. The time has not yet come when we can afford to send our guns to the junk heap and convert our parade grounds into golf links. There may yet arise occasions when it will be necessary for some one to protect us from dangers from abroad or to maintain order at home. As we write memory goes back to the days of the Fenian movement, and we recall a part of the frontier where hundreds of men from New York and other United States cities assembled under the leadership of a well known Fenian. They were for the most part men of no particular occupation and they represented various nationalities. A few of them may have had the cause of Ireland at heart, but most of them were inspired by the hope that they would get a chance to do a little plundering. If the border had been undefended on our side, they would have been able to gratify their wishes; but when the first detachment of them arrived the Volunteers, as we used to call them then, were under arms at a moment's notice. Subsequently as the Fenians increased, regiments of the regular army were sent to the scene; but primarily the defence of the country rested upon the boys of the town, who had learned their drill just as the boys of Victoria are learning their drill. There was a part of Canada where the invasion was real enough, but we are taking a less serious case for the purpose of showing that an armed and drilled militia may be of very great service even if there is no actual fighting to do.

We are strongly inclined to say that the young man who grows up without knowing how he can defend his mother and sisters from a possible band of marauders, who if danger threatened the home of his sweetheart would have to call upon some one else to protect it, who takes to himself a wife and raises a family and never goes to the trouble to fit himself to defend his home and fireside, is doing himself a very great injustice. Don't let any one flatter himself with the belief that it will never be necessary for him to do anything of the kind. Storms often come out of a sky that appears cloudless. One night a ship was off Cape Cod, and a passenger talking to the pilot, who had just left the bridge, said that we were in for a fine night; but the pilot looked over to a low dark line against the southern horizon, and said: "There's wind enough down there to make you think otherwise before morning," and his words came true in a very few hours. First there came a wind, then a strong wind and then a gale which sent waves over the ships and seemed certain to sink her. To the landlubber everything may look pleasant, even when a tempest is gathering, and in international matters we are all landlubbers. We cannot tell where a storm is lurking or how soon it may break. Therefore we should be prepared.

In some parts of Canada there is much opposition among employers of labor to the Militia, and it is said that to join a militia corps is in such places regarded as equivalent to giving up a situation. There is a very regrettable state of things. Employers ought to encourage those under them to qualify themselves for the defence of the country. There is opposition on the part of the labor unions in some case to the Militia, because an impression is abroad that the primary object of the force is to overawe workingmen. This is a very incorrect view of the case. The militia in Canada may have been and probably may hereafter be, called upon to preserve the peace; but it is better far to have the peace maintained by trained citizens acting under the control of the government than by such private armies as the so-called Pinkerton men. Private defence of private interests is an abomination which ought not to be tolerated. We may be sure, however, that if the government does not provide a means whereby domestic peace can be maintained, the large employers of labor will not hesitate to employ a force for that purpose, and such a means of protection is foreign to the genius of our institutions. Moreover the workingmen of the country are as deeply interested as any one else in the defence of the country, and they ought to be ready to qualify themselves for it. In the case of war the workingmen would be prompt enough to offer their service in defence of their country, but those services would be of vastly greater value if the men had received training.

We are very glad to see the formation of cadet corps and corps of boy scouts. The young fellows are getting training in this way that is likely to prove of inestimable value. When they come to manhood they will be fit to take their place in time of national stress. Some mothers are shocked with the idea that their boys should be prepared to fight in defence of their country; they forget that some one's boys must do so.

"THIRTY."

We asked yesterday for the origin of the expression "30," which is now used by the telegraph companies and newspaper men to signify that there is nothing more to come. Three explanations have been given. One of them is that a good many years ago the new telegraph office used to close at 2.30, and it was the custom to add 30 to the last despatch sent out. Another is that the Washington correspondent of the Associated press, who was on night work had 30 for his number and he always signed his despatches with the number instead of the name. We like the third explanation best. It is said that in the earlier days of the operations of one of the telegraph companies there were 30 rules for the guidance of operators, and the last one was that they should report the conditions of the line at closing time and if everything was in good order say simply "Good night." One night an operator being either tired or in a hurry or a bit weary of the routine, sent out from his office "See Rule 30." This was interpreted to mean that all was well, and so the habit arose among operators to simply tick out 30 to signify that they had not forgotten the rule but that all was well. So we may accept as the explanation of this now universal signal, so far as America at least is concerned, that 30 means good night, all's well.

The gallant Fifth certainly has shown that it knows how to shoot.

The Vancouver real estate men are nothing if not engenious. The method they have taken to get behind the counter of the Registry office is exceedingly funny.

The opinion of those persons who have conversed with the members of the University Site Commission is that, like the famous French diplomat, they can on that subject be silent in seven languages.

An afternoon despatch said that the wheat crop was suffering from drought, but it is highly satisfactory to learn that the report of the Canadian Northern for the week says that the prospect of the crop was never better.

Things look very bright for the great exhibition at Winnipeg. If the management can get the $5,000,000 that seems in sight, they ought to be able to get up something in the way of a show that would make the world open its eyes. We have a request to make. Will the management please not call it an Exposition?

All crowned heads, all governments, all natural phenomena, everything else in short is hereby notified that there is no use in anything happening between now and July 5th. Apparently the eyes of the world, that is the American part of it, are concentrated on Reno, and nothing else counts. Surely those who look upon this mundane sphere from points aloft, must say to themselves, "What fools these mortals be?"

The Ladysmith Chronicle is very certain that the University Commissioners have decided upon Victoria as the site for that institution. We can very well believe this is the case, for to our way of thinking we have far and away the best case; but we doubt very much if any of the Commissioners have so expressed themselves. They certainly did not tell any one in Victoria that they had resolved to do so. As a matter of fact we do not believe that any one in Victoria ever asked them.

We think that those persons who fear that the appointment of Sir Ian Hamilton to the post of Inspector-General of the over-seas forces of the Empire will create ill-feeling in the self-governing Dominions are needlessly disturbed. Everything will depend upon the manner in which the new official discharges his duties, for we fancy that his appoinment presupposes a willingness on the part of these Dominions to co-operate with the Home Government in securing uniformity in military matters.

The wreck of the great dirigible balloon Deutschland, following so soon upon the destruction of Zeppelin No. 2, will give aerial navigation a very bad set-back. It is very clear that, with all that has been accomplished, the air is not yet ready to surrender itself to the purposes of navigation. It is possible, however, that the circumstances attending the wreck may be fruitful of knowledge to those persons who are endeavoring to perfect this means of locomotion. How very silly, in view of what has recently transpired, the people look, who a few months ago were working themselves up into panics over the prospective invasion of Britain by a fleet of German dirigibles.

We do not know who is responsible for the extraordinary tales that have been sent to London concerning the reported gold discovery in the vicinity of Stewart, but it is a great pity that such exaggeratied ideas are afloat. Presumably the first news received was telegraphed to the London papers, but it cannot have been the original story that has caused so much excitement, for that was given out simply as a report and not alleged to be a fact. Moreover that was several weeks ago and since then the actual facts of the case have been made known. Private letters from experienced prospectors say that while gold-bearing quartz has been found, the discovery has not yet been shown to be especially important.

If it is correct, as a despatch says, that Mr. Dunsmuir is investing a part of the price of his coal properties in the bonds of the Canadian Northern Railway Company, the incident affords an interesting object lesson in finance. Mr. Dunsmuir had coal mines; Mr. Mackenzie is at the head of a company that is going to build railways in the province and notably in this connection one on Vancouver Island. Mr. Mackenzie thinks he will buy Mr. Dunsmuir's coal mines. He goes to England and gets th emoney, comes out and pays it to Mr. Dunsmuir. Then Mr. Dunsmuir pays part of it back to Mr. Mackenzie's company and takes its bonds as security. goes to England and gets the money, and builds a railway on Vancouver Island.

SENSATION REGARDING KILLING OF SEALS

With Connivance of Officials Females, Yearlings and Pups Were Killed on Pribyloff Islands.

A sensation was recently caused by the exposure of the killing of females, yearling and pup seals on the Pribyloff rookeries with the connivance of United States officials on the seal islands. In this regard the Toronto Globe says:

The all-powerful interests that control the fur seal business in the United States have become entangled with the conservation movement. For years they have been publishing or promoting in American newspapers innocent looking statements of supposed arrangements with Britain by which Canada's rights on the high seas would be relinquished forever in consideration of some trumpery payments. They secured a sixty-mile limit off the sealing islands from Britain, which Japan would not recognize. The vessels of weaker nations would not dare to assert their rights, and some Canadian vessels were subjected to what was virtual acts of piracy. The wildest imaginable Customs laws were designed and adopted requiring the ripping open of all seal garments brought into the United States. Stories of destruction by open-sea sealing were so well circulated that Mr. Mahoun of the Geological Survey found it necessary to make a thorough investigation and disproved them. Now, after all this agitation, wire-pulling, and apparent solicitude regarding the possible destruction of the seal herds comes the disclosure that the seal interests have been killing females, yearlings, and pups on the islands, apparently with the secret connivance of American officials. The disclosure was made through an unexpected visit of a Senate committee who caught the sealers in the act. Records of sales show that this kind of work has been carried on for at least eight or ten years by the men who have been crying out to all nations against open-sea sealing and its destructive influence.

Last year it was expected that a complete close season of five years would begin. A bill was adopted appropriating $100,000 for Secretary Nagel's committee and investing him with almost absolute power in regard to fur seals. When it was pointed out that the change would deprive the natives of their means of livelihood an additional $50,000 was voted for their maintenance. The situation was simplified by the expiry of the lease of the Alaska Commercial Company. When Mr. Lumbkey, who was placed in charge by Secretary Nagel, was about to start for the rookery it was learned that the killing was to be continued by the officials and the selling by virtually the former seal interests. A strong protest was made by Mr. W. T. Hornaday, a naturalist of standing, and one of the best authorities on the big game of the continent. His objection to Mr. Lumbkey as one personally interested in the fur seal business brought a veiled threat from Secretary Nagel regarding official displeasure. To this Mr. Hornaday replied with open defiance and disclosure, and the result is that President Taft has a repetition of the Pinchot case on his hands. The forces of conservation are in open warfare with the interests that seek profits by destruction.

The lesson for Canada from Mr. Hornaday's disclosures of misleading reports, venal officials, pretended solicitude, and surreptitious destruction is the wisdom of maintaining and asserting our rights on the high sea. The fur seal interests should be given to understand that these rights shall not be relinquished. If it is desirable to suspend the killing of seals for five years or ten years Canada should be prepared to co-operate with all interested nations, but the suspension must be carried out on the land, which belongs to the United States, as well as on the ocean, which belongs to all nations. If this fur seal business has ever been equalled for organized deception and hidden political influence the world has never been enlightened by the disclosure.

May Build New Road

Hon. Price Ellison, minister of lands, is expected to return from Princeton and Vernon tomorrow evening, and will remain at the capital for the week ensuing, when departmental engagements will again call him away. In reply to a petition recently forwarded to him with regard to the new road to the Kelowna Land Companies' Bench, Hon. Mr. Ellison has addressed a letter to Mr. W. R. Pooley, stating that a report is being made on the route, and the minister will endeavor to have the new bridge over Mission creek under way this season, as he fully appreciates the importance of this short cut to Kelowna. By bridging the creek somewhere near the Haynes' property, an excellent grade can be maintained up to the Bench, and the proposed road will form a direct means of communication between the K. L. O. and South Kelowna Land Companies properties.

Reputation

Reputation is the one large word that distinguishes the excellent from the good, the near good, the average, the mediocre, the bad and the unspeakably bad. Gloves must be classified in your mind under one of these headings. "Perrin" is a name of excellent reputation that in fifty years has become the standard in Kid Gloves, owing to a steady and unswerving policy of making only gloves of the very best quality—a fact which keen shoppers have not been slow to learn. There is buying-wisdom in purchasing "Perrin Gloves."

Lame shoulder is almost invariably caused by rheumatism of the muscles and yields quickly to the free application of Chamberlain's Liniment. This liniment is not only prompt and effectual, but in no way disagreeable to use. Sold by all druggists

Gen. HHamilton's Appointment

LONDON, June 28.—In the House of Commons yesterday when the question of the Mediterranean command and inspectorship of oversea forces arose again, Mr. Wyndham said he thought Sir Ian Hamilton's appointment was not wise, pointing out among other things that it might bring him into delicate relationship with the oversea governments. Mr. Haldane, in replying on the point, expressed the belief that the foundation of the policy of uniformity in the various armies of the empire had now been laid and an inspector-general was needed who would be able to give a great deal of time to the work of inspection of forces overseas if desired. Mr. Haldane referred to the fact that General Hamilton had commanded Canadians and Australians in the field as an additional recommendation for that distinguished officer.

NEWS OF THE CITY

Horse Sprained Angle

A horse belonging to a Chinaman named Loo Wong, a market gardener, yesterday morning fell on the pavement near the corner of Fort and Douglas streets, and sustained a sprain on one of the hind legs. No amount of enticing would make the animal move, and finally a truck was requisitioned and the injured animal was loaded in, under the supervision of the S. P. C. A. officer.

Injured at Jordan River

W. Brothers, a laborer employed on the construction works of the Vancouver Island Power Company's plant at Jordan river, had his back seriously sprained, and received other bruises about his body, as the result of a fall on Saturday last while he was engaged in replacing a water pipe which ran above the railway track. He lost his balance, and fell on to the track, a fall of 12 feet. He was brought to the city, and is at present at St. Joseph's hospital, where his injuries are being attended to.

HEAVY EXECUTIVE TODAY

Prince Rupert's Application—V. & S. Petition and Other Matters to Come.

The majority of the members of the provincial cabinet will be in attendance at the meeting of the executive today, at which a number of important matters are listed for consideration. A decision will be rendered with respect to the application of the city of Prince Rupert for approval of its record of three hundred inches of water at Woodworth lake for future civic purposes. Argument will be heard both for and in opposition to the application of the Victoria & Sidney railway for a grant of certain land on Blanchard street, Victoria city, for terminal purposes.

The report of Mr. James F. Garden as to the subject matter of the dispute between the owners of the subdivision of Idylwyld and the corporation of North Vancouver will be presented and action taken thereupon. The engineer's report as to the application of the Stave Lake Power Company for the approval of its tramway extensions and other works will also be dealt with; and interesting action in the direction of further protecting British Columbia's great game asset is anticipated.

WILL FIX RATE

City Council to Establish Tax Rate At Tomorrow Night's Meeting.

A special meeting of the city council will be held on Thursday evening, when the tax rate for the year will be struck. As Friday is a holiday the regular weekly meeting of the streets committee will also be held on Thursday evening. With the large addition to the assessible value of city property it is not expected that the rate this year will have to be increased. Last year the rate was 26 1-2 mills on the dollar with 50 per cent. of improvements taxed. If the improvements are taxed this year on the same basis the necessary revenue can be raised by a levy of 25 1-2 mills. While the city council went on record early in the year as being in favor of reducing the tax on improvements it is doubtful if there will be any reduction this year, and the same proportion taxed last year will probably be established this year.

AMUSEMENTS

At the Victoria

The announcement is made by the management of the Victoria theatre to the effect that the dramatic stock company from the Empress theatre, Vancouver, is to play an engagement here for two weeks beginning July 4th. This is admitted to be the finest dramatic organization in the West, and the fame of the company and the magnificent scenic productions, has travelled throughout the Pacific coast. Mr. Walter Sanford, the proprietor of the theatre and company, has had many applications from Seattle and Portland, as well as northwest towns to send this company on a visit to them, but Victoria has finally been settled upon as the favored city. Four plays will be given by this company that have positively never been performed in this city by any other. Thus will be given a chance to see a perfectly organized company presenting new material, a double attraction. The play selected for the opening bill is the world renowned drama of "Trilby" written by Guy Du Maurier, as a novel. It has been read all over the English speaking world by thousands of delighted readers, and the play was performed in London by Sir H. Beerbohm Tree, where it caused a sensation, scoring a phenomenal run. Isabelle Fletcher, the popular leading lady of the Empress theatre has in the role of "Trilby" a part in though she has won tremendous success in several of the large eastern cities. "Trilby" will be played on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, July 4th, 5th and 6th. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings (with matinee) will be given the comedy racing drama "Wildfire.' This comedy was played for two seasons by the celebrated actress, Miss Lillian Russell. It tells a story of the race track that interests the auditor every moment. Both these plays will have magnificent scenic mountings, as the scenery will be shipped from Vancouver just as it was presented on the stage of the Empress theatre for these two plays. Both "Trilby" and "Wildfire" met with such success at the Empress theatre that hundreds were turned away from every performance. For the last week two other famous successes will be given mention, of which will be made later. It is further announced that this company will appear at the remarkably low schedule of prices of 35, 50 and 75 cents for the best seats. This is a theatrical bargain that will never again be presented to Victoria.

Pantages Theatre

Musical comedy is drawing the crowds both at the afternoon matinees and two nightly performances, an indication that this kind of entertainment is very popular and the fact that last night's audiences were larger than those of the opening night reflects the very favorable impression the Louis & Lake Company has made. Two more dancing girls arrived yesterday and will be in evidence today. This addition to the chorus, with the introduction of moving pictures as an opening number, makes "A New York Girl" a big amusement bargain.

Majestic Theatre

"A Knot in the Plot." In this biograph comedy a lesson is shown—"don't be too sure." The dandy of the camp vowed he'd win the heart and hand of the belle. Things looked easy to him at first, but an impetuous Mexican cuts him out. As the course of true love ne'er runs smooth, they have a little tiff and the boys all think it is the dandy who has spurned the belle, and so seek him out to compel him to marry the girl. Of course, the dandy would have been too pleased to do so, but the Mexican having relented, marries her, so this prevents the boys carrying out their design.

"The Princess and the Peasant."—A magnificent dramatic film built about the love of a king's daughter for a peasant lad. Married by an old hermit in a mountain grotto, they are parted by the king's hirelings and the bride is imprisoned in the Black Castle on a lonely wave-swept island, from which she is rescued most dramatically by her wounded husband. Thrilling situations, the beautiful scenery of Cuba and the picturesque costumes of the days of romance and adventure make this a film that will be appreciated by everybody.

"Adoring an Ad."—Ever look at the pretty girl staring at you from a magazine page and wonder who she was? The hero of this picture did, and when he determined to discover the identity of the original he was led a merry chase. But a happy accident assisted him materially, and he succeeded in his quest.

"Cupid, D. D. S."—A comedy filled with plenty of clean humor. The combination is irresistible. A dentist with a pretty woman assistant, a millionaire with an aching tooth and Cupid loitering around the place looking for victims. The assistant accepts the millionaire, leaving the dentist forlorn, while the fun is fast and furious at times, while again it is a dandy humor which appeals directly to the risibles of all who see the picture.

New Grand Theatre.

For a good all-round show, the Grand this week supplied the demand, with the Three Gordon Highlanders at the head of the bill. It is a Scotch musical act and as such appeals especially to the Scotch population, but also very greatly to the rest of the people who share in the applause and insist on an encore. Harry Tsuda, a Japanese equilibrist, William Zienelle and Adelaide Boutille, play in a diverting and entertaining novelty; James Toney and Antionette Norman offer an original dance and a couple of songs which get a good hand, and Murray K. Hill is heard in a monologue and song story that is just right. His final recitation is good.

VOLIVA OBJECTS

Dedication of Methodist Chapel in Zion Much Vexes General Overseer.

CHICAGO, June 28.—A war between the Methodists and General Overseer Glenn Voliva is reported to have started today, following the dedication of a modest chapel by the Methodists inside the precincts of Zion City.

"We will fight this invasion to the death," Voliva is reported as having said when he heard of the dedication.

Bishop McDowell and a large number of Methodist dignitaries assisted in the ceremonies. They say they are in Zion to stay and grow. The independents in Zion hailed the advent of the Methodists warmly and sent a delegation of elders to the dedication of the chapel.

The new church will have the backing of business interests outside and Overseer Voliva will have the battle of his life if he undertakes to exterminate the invaders, according to the Methodists.

The Methodists dedicated their chapel in the forenoon yesterday and in the afternoon Voliva, speaking at the tabernacle, hurled his defiance. This draws the lines of battle clearly and some interesting developments may be expected.

coming and ascended to a height of nearly 4,000 feet to avoid the worst of it. With the whirlwind came an avalanch of rain. After half an hour the Deutschland came down to permit of observations, and it was seen that the Teutoburger forest lay below. The forward motor again stopped, and Colesmann sent five of the correspondents to the aft gondola to ballast the vessel. The Deutschland sank rapidly, having lost much gas in the high altitude, and dragged along the top of the dense forest. A heavy branch of a tree broke through the floor of the cabin amidships, throwing two of the guests to the floor. Other branches ripped the gas compartments, and the whole great structure settled down thirty or forty feet from the ground.

"It isn't the fault of the Zeppelin system," explained Herr Colesmann, "that is all right. It is our own fault, and our benzine ran out."

The airship, for which Herr Colesmann's company had just paid $137,500, looked like a wreck. The frames were broken, but the motors were not damaged. The silk was ripped and had fallen in a torn mass on the tops of the trees. A rope ladder was swung down, and every one was mustered below uninjured, except for a bruise or two. The natives identified the spot as near to Wellendorf eastward of Osnabruck.

Many persons of the countryside must have seen the descent, and reports of disaster, explosion and death were widely spread. A party of officers and civilians came by auto from Iburg. The district governor and his wife, with first aid to the injured, arrived at the scene within half an hour by special train. A company was sent from Osnabruck and picketed the wreckage.

The disaster occurred at half past five o'clock in the evening. The early part of the flight was delightful, much like automobiling without the jarring. The airship maintained an altitude of about 500 feet, and during the first hour or two the passengers felt quite a contempt for the trains rambling along below and the smoke of automobiles as slow and out of date. This was when the airship was sweeping gently across the country, but during the height of the storm the consciences of those aboard were not so easy.

EDITOR CLEMENTS RESIGNS POSITION

Man Whose Reference to the Mourning Over the Late King's Death, Leaves Penticton

"Finis" has apparently been written to the journalistic career of Mr. W J. Clement, for the past four years the editor of the Penticton Press, who a few weeks ago, on the occasion of the deeply regretted death of His Majesty King Edward VII., won for himself widespread and undesirable notoriety by the publication of a disloyal and most offensive article headed "Mock Loyalty and Mock Mourning."

The story of how indignant citizens emphasized their disapproval of this article by endeavoring to give the editor a ducking in a convenient swamp, and of how the attorney-general was eventually compelled to cancel for cause Mr. Clement's commission as a justice of the peace is still fresh in the minds of British Columbians. No reference to the cancellation of his commission is made by the editor in the last issue of the Press, in which, however, he announces his abdication of the editorial chair

"By next issue," he says, "this paper will have passed into the hands of another. In casting a backward glance, although our pathway has not been strown with flowers, neither has it been altogether devoid of bright spots. The person who takes up journalism with the expectation of finding clear sailing, no opposition and no criticism, is living in a fool's paradise that must very soon come tottering to the ground."

The metaphor is a little mixed, it is true, but everyone will understand its meaning. It is understood that the principal owners of the paper requested Mr. Clement's resignation.

Nicaragua Situation.

SAN JUAN, Del Sur, Nicaragua, June 28.—Great Corn Island and the whole Atlantic coast of Nicaragua with the exception of the town of Bluefield are in the hands of the government. Acoyapa has not been captured by the revolutionists as was reported yesterday. It is also untrue they have captured the port of San Ubaldo, Nicaragua.

In Woman's Realm

Here and There

There is said to be a great scarcity of women workers of all kinds in the city of Detroit, Michigan. Enquiry has shown that the shortage is due to the fact that so many women have left positions in the city for homes of their own. As the labor market in this border city is largely supplied from Canada this fact is of special interest. Happy marriages, and for all that cynics may say to the contrary most marriages are happy, at least in Canada, are matters of congratulation not only to the couples who marry, but to the whole country. It is better that women should work in their own homes than that they should earn money in the outside world. There are plenty of idle women in many parts of the world to take the place of the workers in Detroit and elsewhere in prosperous provinces and states, and the balance of labor will be adjusted before long.

Most of us have had occasion to realize how little we really know about life in one or other of the great sister dominions. A writer in the Standard of Empire reminds us all that unless we get to know each other better imperial unity will never be anything more than a dream. This gentleman, Mr. J. S. Reedmayne, makes a suggestion that will be interesting to teachers whether they will consider it feasible or not. He is writing for the benefit of English teachers but one can readily imagine that the adoption of the suggestion in the schools of our own province would do good in many ways. There is scarcely any subject taught that has in it so little of loving interest as geography. Yet it is through the medium of the geography lesson that children should learn to know something of the real life of the children who play on the South African veldt or live in South Australian vineyards or ride over the cattle ranges of the northern states of that great country. If some such plan as the following were adopted there would be a greater interest among the pupils than there is now. That each of the great divisions of the Mother Country, England, Ireland and Scotland, might be added is a matter worthy of consideration. But this is what Mr. Redmayne says.

(1) That in our public elementary schools the authorities should arrange that one classroom in each school building be specially named after and associated with each one of the great states of the overseas Empire—the India room, the Canada room, the Australia room, the New Zealand and South Africa room, etc., with large maps and appropriate illustrations hung on the walls, and, if possible, a case of specimens of some of the natural products, etc., peculiar to the country after which the room was named—and possibly the portraits of some of its most famous men—anything that served to give the younger generation of Englishmen and women a familiarity with that particular part of the overseas Empire associated with the particular classroom.

But the writer is not satisfied with teaching the children. He would have their elders learn more definitely than they do now what are the sentiments and aims of people in other colonies and how they live from day to day. This knowledge is to be gained from newspapers, and accordingly, he says

(2) My second suggestion, supplementary to the first, is that steps be taken to have a number of newspapers from all parts of the overseas Empire supplied regularly to our free libraries in England, so that the older generation of our town dwellers may gain local familiarity with some portions of the overseas Empire in a way that such reading always gives.

If such papers were supplied to the free libraries in any quantity, mere curiosity would prompt occasional reading, talk would follow reading, and the indifference due to ignorance would be broken.

Both suggestions are worthy of consideration.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

At a Congress of Women, held a few weeks ago in London, the position and prospects of women as administrators and officials in local and central government were discussed. In Great Britain women hold many offices of this kind that are filled by men in Canada. On school boards and as poor law guardians their usefulness has been proved. The next step, the advisability of the admission of women to the parliamentary franchise was debated and it was shown that a wide field for usefulness lies before women as physicians and as nurses. An observer wonders at the business methods of the members of the congress and the excellence of the addresses given. Among the speakers were the High Commissioner of Australia, and a gentleman from Japan who gave a long account of the education of women in that country There is no doubt that public speaking is an art which women readily acquire. The art of ready and graceful speech is a valuable one, but, after all, the important thing is to have something worth saying. The man or woman who is in earnest and has a message to give will never want hearers.

Mrs. Spofford, president of the Provincial W. C. T. U. spoke at the Convention in New Westminster on Thursday last. Her address was an optimistic one. While pointing out the infamous character of the white slave traffic, Mrs. Spofford stated that thirteen nations had combined to take measures for its suppression and that the women of nineteen countries were working towards the same end through the National Council of Women.

The speaker gave a review of the progress of temperance throughout the world and referred in terms of commendation to the legislation both provincial and municipal "which aims at better control, a reduction in the number of licenses, shorter hours, higher license fees, greater restrictions and more rigid enforcement" in our own province. The address closes with the following paragraph:

"What further evidence is necessary in order that we may know the trend of the world in regard to these great reforms? What more tangible evidence that truth and knowledge are vitalizing its conscience can we ask for? Before the onward and triumphant march of truth what error can possibly stand, what will stay its course? The legislation of drink traffic will be abolished, the full emancipation of woman will be accomplished; the standard of 'a white life for two' will be established, and for the coming toddling feet the way will be made safe, because the civilization of the future will demand these things.

"And for the accomplishment of all this, the motherhood of the world through the organization of the W. C. T. U. under its banner 'For God, for Home and Native Land,' have been and are working and praying."

Among other speakers at the convention were Mrs. Edith Murray Dow, of Rossland, and Rev. Dr. Spencer. The following are the officers for the ensuing year. President Mrs. Spofford, Victoria; honorary president, Mrs. McNaughton, Victoria; vice-president, Mrs. Reekie, Vancouver; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Cunningham, New Westminster; recording and press secretary, Miss Marguerite Evans, Victoria; treasurer, Mrs. Gordon Grant, Victoria.

The next convention will be held in Victoria. The invitation was extended by Mrs. Sherwood, president of the local union and accepted unanimously on motion of Mrs. Fitch, of Vancouver.

The convention of the King's Daughters met in Vancouver on Thursday evening. In the absence of the mayor, the Rev. R. J. Wilson welcomed the convention to the city. He spoke in terms of high praise of the good but unostentatious work of the order.

Mrs. Battle, of Vancouver, welcomed the delegates from other cities, and Mrs. J. E. Austin, Dominion treasurer, delivered an inspiring address. Mrs. Hasell spoke eloquently of the work and aims of the order.

St. John's branch of the Women's Auxiliary to missions meets this afternoon in the school room. A large attendance is specially requested.

There is in Glasgow a model prison for women, which is described by Miss Charlotte Smith Rossie in the World's Work. Not only is it found possible in certain cases to leave doors unlocked, but professional cooks are hired to give instruction in the making of dishes, and special stoves brought into the prison chapel, where the demonstration takes place. It is not mere prison cookery that is taught—but ordinary house dietetics. No prison anywhere has advanced to this stage, except perhaps in America and Japan. Needlework and art needlework are taught—dressmaking, tailoring, knitting with machines—all of which have to reach a high stage of perfection, as they are to a great extent for trade purposes."

Almost everyone now knows that Madame Curie is one of the great scientists of the world, but she is not the only woman who is doing valuable work. In Cassier's magazine James Johnston describes the discoveries of Mrs. Ayrton, an English lady, in electrical science. He says: "Mrs. Ayrton's reputation is notable in the fact that she is the only woman member of the Institution of Electrical Engineers, a society numbering over 6,000 men. It is somewhat curious to read that, when in 1902 the gifted scientist was formally nominated for the fellowship of the Royal Society, the council found that it had no legal power to elect a married woman to this distinction. It was decided, however, a few years later, in recognition of her experimental investigations on the electric arc, and also on sand-ripples, to present her with a medal, the first time that the society has ever selected a woman since its commencement of presenting medals in 1731. The actual medal, by the way, which Mrs. Ayrton received for her original work was the 'Hughes gold medal,' together with the money prizes that accompanied it."

It was reported a few days ago that the flag which would float over the residence of the Queen Mother would show the flag of Denmark with the royal standard of England. The story of the Danish flag is given in the Housekeeper: "In the year 1219, King Waldemar of Denmark, when leading his troops to battle against the Livonians, saw, or thought he saw a bright light in the form of a cross in the sky. He held this appearance to be a promise of divine aid, and pressed forward to victory. From this time he had the cross placed on the flag of his country and called it the Dannebrog, that is, the strength of Denmark. Aside from legend, there is no doubt that this flag with the cross was adopted by Denmark in the thirteenth century, and that at about the same date an order, known as the order of Dannebrog, was instituted, to which only soldiers and sailors who were distinguished for courage, were allowed to belong. The flag of Denmark, a plain red banner, bearing on it a white cross, is the oldest flag now in existence. For three hundred years, both Norway and Sweden were united with Denmark under this flag."

FIGHTERS ARE ALMOST READY

Both Johnson and Jeffries Practically Lying on Oars for Sound of Gong—Impressions of Correspondents

RENO, Nev., June 28.—As the day of the heavyweight championship draws near the excitement of waiting enthusiasts intensifies, while the attendants of the two principles are strained to their utmost in the endeavor to wear smiling faces, to hide the nervous anxiety which bothers to some extent even the most confident, and to surround the fighters with the atmosphere most likely to send them in the ring with but one possible outcome in their mind's eye, namely, victory.

Yesterday was a day of reminiscences, of talks of other fights, and in all these talks there was an expression of the general feeling here that the Johnson-Jeffries battle next Monday is to be the last big fight in this country. Jeffries' workout early today came as a surprise. Hardly one of the usual crowd of spectators reached Moana in time to witness it. From then until Johnson woddled through a lifeless ten rounds with his sparring partners late in the afternoon, there was nothing to do but talk. It was too hot to walk, and the groups of sporting celebrities clung to the shade and gossiped endlessly.

The announcement has been made by Tex Rickard that the men will enter the ring next Monday at 1:30 instead of 3, as first planned.

Owing to the excessively hot weather there has been no very hard work in either camp during the past couple of days. Both Jeffries and Johnson are taking it, comparitively speaking, easy. In his most recent bouts with sparring partners the champion has not displayed the vigor and enthusiasm of a few weeks back. In the first four rounds of a mill with Monohan he went after his opponent with playful force, planting blows with force and precision until Monahan's nose and lips were dripping the ruby. Thereafter he toyed. The present intention is that Jeffries shall practically finish his training tomorrow. When he pulls the gloves from his hands on that day, after his sparring tussle with the shadows, the "hope of the white race" will have completed his preparation for his encounter with Johnson.

Jeffries Ready

Fred J. Hewitt, a prominent Canadian sporting writer, who is at Reno watching the proceedings, has forwarded the following comment to the papers with which he corresponds:

If James J. Jeffries can stick a route, travel over a distance of ground in a battle of extended length, there is no question in the world but that he will win the battle with Jack Johnson, the colored whirlwind, on the Fourth of July.

That is the opinion of the most critical observers here, and if it were assured that Jeff could go on and on through, say, thirty or forty rounds of battling, he would be a 1 to 10 chance in the betting.

But that little word "if" is in the way.

That Jeffries is as near perfection as regards physical condition is not only claimed by the retinue about the camp, but admitted by the hundreds of critical admirers of Johnson, who have made the trip to the scene of activity. But the question is "Can Jeff stay?"

Boxer vs. Fighter

An interesting letter is written from Reno by Tom Flanagan, of Toronto, who is with Jack Johnson. He says:

RENO, Nev., June 22.—After being here in Reno a couple of days, I have come to the conclusion that Nevada is populated by the best sports in the world. When Goldfields offered $200,000 guarantee was turned down by Tex Rickard, and Reno chosen for the fight, the Goldfield people began buying their tickets on the spot. Reno is a fine lively town and an ideal place to hold a big contest. It is on the main line of the Southern Pacific, and twelve hours nearer to Canada and the Eastern States than San Francisco. In fact, it is better for my home folks in Toronto and friends in Montreal, and any of them who want to make sure of good ringside seats can do so by telegraphing me here. Reno is easy to reach from all points. Accommodations have been secured for all visitors. From what I've seen of the two men, I look for the best heavyweight battle seen in many years. I know that Johnson is in great shape, and Jeffries never looked better. They are very evenly matched—Johnson is more clever, Jeffries is a harder hitter. I think the fight will last not less than twenty rounds. Naturally, having seen so much of Johnson's work, I don't see how he can be beaten, but Jeffries is favorite, and has many enthusiastic backers here and in California. The state officials here declare that under the law there can be no possible interference by the Governor or any one else. The law is clear and allows anyone to promote a fight of any length for a purse, or wager, with only two restrictions: the fighters must wear gloves of not less than four ounces in weight, and must be examined by two reputable Nevada physicians before entering the ring.

FITZ SELECTS JEFF TO WIN

Veteran of Ring Arrived Here Last Night and Expresses Confidence in "Big Fellow"—Hastens to Scene

FITZ PICKS THE "BIG FELLOW"

"Any fight is as uncertain as a horse race, and this particularly so, but my opinion is well-known. Johnson won't stand for long before the massive strength and the bear-like tenacity of Jeffries, providing he is in shape. I havn't seen Jeff yet, nor have I had a chance of sizing up Johnson, but I believe that the negro champion will wilt before the big fellow." "Bob" Fitzsimmons on the heavyweight championship battle of July 4th.

The veteran native of Cornwall, England, the hero of many a hard fought battle, returned from Australia, the country where he was brought up and where he made his first appearance in the ring, by the steamer Marama last night. Looking as sprightly as a three-year-old, as full of enthusiasm as the warhorse with the scent of battle in his quivering nostrils, the war-scarred pugilist, en route to the Jeffries-Johnson argument, leaned over the incoming vessel's railing last night at the Outer Wharf, totally oblivious of the fact that he was the cynosure of one hundred inquisitive eyes, and impatiently awaited the word that would allow him ashore that he might prepare for the next long trip to California on his way to witness the struggle for the Crown which he for many years wore.

Accompanying Mr. Fitzsimmons was Mrs. Fitzsimmons and her maid. Both of the former were equally eager to get away on their journey south, but for very different purposes. While Mr. "Fitz" is full of the fight, anxious to see the battle and to renew acquaintances with the hundreds of old-time friends who will be gathered at the ringside, the latter bubbles over with talk of the stage. With her husband she has but recently concluded a theatrical tour of Australia extending over six months. "My, I am glad to get back to America," she exclaimed. My loyalty to the stars and stripes has trebled since my absence. Of course I am interested in the fight, but it is our plans of going into vaudeville as soon as it is over, that is principally concerning me."

"What is you're opinion of the result of the fight?" was ventured. Mrs. Fitzsimmons laughed and then, rather diffidently, "Oh, I'm sure Jeff will win."

"Fitz" and Slavin.

Perhaps the most dramatic incident of Fitzsimmon's arrival was his meeting with Frank Slavin, an ex-heavyweight champion of some reputation. "Fitz" knew him in his prime, fought with him, and they shook hands too full of reminiscence and of opinions regarding the approaching battle to know where to start first. The conversation was the more interesting because "Fitz" selects Jeffries and Slavin can't understand how the Ethiopian can lose.

"You must remember Johnson's youth, his elasticity, his cleverness and his strength," expostulated Slavin in the midst of a sharp exchange of verbal fireworks.

"Ah, but you forget Jefferies' endurance, his persistency and his aggressiveness."

Then "Fitz" went on to tell how he thought "Jeff" would win. Johnson was a splendid defensive fighter. He was rather a hard man to get, but he never was one to force hostilities. Jeffries, on the other hand, was one who bored right into the thick of it, who shut his jaws, took what was coming and gave just a little bit more. Everything depended on Jeffries' condition, and he had confidence that he was in proper shape. The big fellow was not a man of lightly pass his words. He had said that he could and would "come back" and he believed that he wouldn't be entering the ring unless he felt sure that he had kept of his word.

Slavin was doubtful. He shook his head, declared that it was a harder job to get into fighting trim than some seemed to think, after a period of prosperous retirement, and, while expressing an unwillingness to bet and the hope that the white man would win, croaked his pessimism.

The argument continued until both agreed to wait, "Fitz" with the remark that he would see because he was going to hasten to the scene, while Slavin regretted his inability to take in the mill.

"I've retired," replied Fitz in answer to a query. "No more for me," with a shake of the head suggestive of memory fulness.

Of Gillis defeat in his engagement with Langford in Australia the ex-heavyweight talked volubly. "I should never have been put out," he remarked. "Lasang is something of a joke. I wasn't feeling well. All my training was in the open and I got a touch of rheumatism. When I stepped into the ring I was sore and stiff. If I had been in anything like shape there would have been nothing to it."

Here Mrs. Fitz, who in a side conversation had been telling of her impressions of Australia and of her pleasure at again finding herself on American soil, broke into the fight talk. "It's all Johnson there," she remarked. "The odds are six to five in his favor. But they have as poor idea of fighting and fighters as they have of the artist, although our reception was splendid. The talent is far from high class. As a boxer their ideal is Bill Squires, and simply because Johnson handled 'Tommy' Burns so easily they are convinced that he cannot be beaten."

Thus as Mr. Fitz's manager, for the lady, is now that the veteran has irrevocably left pugilism, is unquestionably the boss, explained the reason why Australians are offering big money on the negro. It was easy to see that she, like her husband, is an enthusiastic backer of Jeffries and that, indubitably, one of the reasons she is so glad to get back to the United States is her deep conviction that the "hope of the white race," is good enough to show the negro the way in next Monday's encounter.

Burns' Brother Aboard

A. Brusso, a brother of Tommy Burns, was among the passengers by the steamer Marama. He does not expect to be able to get down in time to see the fight having business in the Northwest. However, he declares it his opinion and that of his brother, ex-heavyweight champion, that, providing Jeffries has succeeded in reaching form, that the present holder of the title will be shorn of his honors. Burns, Lang, the latest victor over Fitzsimmons, and McIntosh, the latter's manager, left the Marama at Honolulu, expecting to make a quicker trip to the big battle than could be made via Victoria. Brusso announces the intention of his brother to return to the ring and looks for his first match to be with Langford, the Boston tar baby.

GILLIS TO COMPETE FOR WORLD'S TITLE

Jack Gillis, who won the Dominion all round championship in Winnipeg last summer, has received information from the East that the competition for the world's all-round championship is to be held in Chicago and in that event he has decided to go, if arrangements can be made. Training will be resumed at once, and the husky policeman promises to be in form for the fight for the world's honors. It is stated that Martin Sheridan will go from New York to take part in the competition, and if the two of them meet the struggle will be a memorable one. Gillis did very well in the all-round tests he carried out some time ago, and it is his intention to continue these from this time on in the hope that he will better himself in the various events at the competition. The Police Mutual Benefit association is to make a campaign for funds to send the cop to Chicago.

War Scarred Veteran Scents the Battle

Fitzsimmons, ex-heavyweight champion, and hero of many fights, passes through Victoria en route to Reno, Nev., to see representatives of Caucasian and Ethiopian races struggle for highest honor within reach of the modern pugilist.

COMPARISON NOT ALTOGETHER FAIR

The man from Boston now tramping across the continent against time in the hope of beating Weston's record will probably accomplish the feat so far as number of days is concerned. But that alone will not beat Weston. In order to score a victory in every respect conditions must be similar; and the one condition that made Weston's performance remarkable and created general interest was the man's age. He was well past the allotted span of life when he made the long walk. The Boston pedestrian, Jack Eldridge by name, is only twenty-four years of age—in early manhood, when strength and endurance are about at their maximum. For a pedestrian at twenty-four to pride himself upon beating the record made by a man well over seventy seems rather mean and childish. Should Eldridge live to be seventy he can then try Weston's record.—Winnipeg Free Press.

The Duncan Tennis Club has fixed the dates of its annual tournament. The Hayward Cup matches will take place on the Duncan courts on July 8th and 9th. It is for gentlemen' singles and is only open to players of the district. The annual open tournament will be held on August 12th and 13th.

Have you noticed the enthusiasm with which the youngsters are picking up lacrosse? Give Victoria a winning team in any line of sport and for the nonce it is all the go. Wattalet's Babes will have to brace up in order to maintain the popularity of the American game among the rising generation of athletes.

Where did that report come from that Victoria was going to have a professional lacrosse team next year? Con Jones, it is known, would like to see one from this city, and has announced that he is going to boom it but, beyond that, no one seems to be aware of any movement. It's a remarkable coincidence that the story should come out during John's sojourn on the Mainland but, then, he puts it down as all "hot air."

The Times' printers, after declining to meet the Colonist ironclads, yesterday made a proposition that wasn't convenient to the latter. Really it looks as though these baseball nines are inspired with a mutual respect. Come, get together, and fight it out.

Next week will be a busy one for local yachtsmen. It is up to them to make good in the conduct of the international regatta. The general public should assist as much as they are able.

The Hill baseball crowd defeated the Capitals on Monday night by a considerable margin. The outcome was in doubt until near the finish.

KING GEORGE WINS HIS FIRST RACE

LONDON, June 28.—King George won his first race when Royal Escort, carrying Lord Derby's colors, under which the Royal Stable is to be run for a year, won the Wellington handicap of £200 at Sandown Park. Before the start Royal Escort, who is son of Diamond Jubilee, bolted and threw his jockey, Wooten, and galloped over the entire course. When he won in a canter after his runaway there was more cheering than has been heard on a race course in England this year.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 28.—A bill intended to make glove contests of any kind illegal in Georgia was introduced into the upper branch of the general assembly today. Boxing contests at present are staged in this city, Savannah and Macon.

NO INTERFERENCE WITH THE FIGHT

Governor of Nevada Assures Tex Rickard That Battle Will Be Permitted Providing Law Is Observed

RENO, June 28.—Sweeping away the last lingering fear of executive interference with the Jeffries-Johnson battlefield on the 4th of July, Governor Dickerson, of Nevada, arrived today and personally assured Promotor Tex Rickard that there was no possibility of intervention.

"I have heard no rumors recently that the fight was apt to be stopped," said the governor, as he clasped hands with Rickard at the hotel this morning. "I do not know how the rumors of possible action by myself against the fight have got out. I wish to state again that I have not considered such a thing. On my previous statement I made I stand today. The State of Nevada will not interfere as the laws of the State have been complied with."

Rickard beamed in response, and the governor and fight promoter strolled across the street to a cafe and sat down to breakfast together.

The governor arrived from Ely on an early train this morning. He went at once to his hotel and left orders that he was not to be called until nearly noon. He was not to be interviewed until then. When he came down stairs Rickard and Capt. Cox, commandant of the Nevada State police, were on hand to meet him and the last foundation for talk for intervention against the fight was dissipated.

No Interference.

As the pair came from the cafe, Governor Dickerson turned to a member of the Associated Press staff and said: "The Associated Press may state for me that the Jeffries-Johnson fight positively will be held in Reno on the afternoon of July 4th, with no interference from anyone. Mr. Rickard, as referee and promoter, has assured me that the fight will be honestly conducted. Beyond this I have no concern with it. I have known Mr. Rickard for seven years and his word is sufficient for me."

It is probable that Jack Gleason, Rickards' partner, will also be his partner in an auxiliary way in refereeing the contest. Rickard said today there must be a second referee at the ring side ready to step in, should Rickard be injured or forced to leave for any reason.

The fighters have not signified their attitude on the question. Rumors that the fight would be stopped by executive edict has been given a complete knockout and interest shifted tonight to the training camps. Every one connected with the great contest made it a point to visit Moana Springs, Jeffries quarters, or Johnson's training quarters during the afternoon, and not until evening did the steady procession of motor cars cease.

Governor At Camps.

Governor Dickerson seemed deeply interested in the fight preparations. Accompanied by Captain Cox, of the State police, who is here with a squadron of Desert Rangers to help in keeping order, the governor jumped into an automobile and visited Johnson's camp. He caught the champion just starting on his work since coming to Reno.

Johnson and Kaufman boxed several fast rounds. The dusky sparring partner came next, and Johnson went after him with playful viciousness. He drove the big black around the ring hammering away with good will at any point Cotton failed to protect. In the fourth round the champion put on steam and went after Cotton as though determined to put him down for the count.

Cotton clinched to save himself from punishment. Jack tore himself lose with one of his surprising displays of strength. Twice he drove his left to the head with terrific speed and force. In ring parlance it was a "double left hook" and ended the bout for Cotton.

He staggered and would have dropped to the floor had not the seconds caught him and helped him to a seat.

Johnson was ready to quit and called for Monahan whom he kept dancing around for two rounds. Dave Mills was subjected to the champion's fire for two more rounds and then Johnson started back to the hotel.

Governor Dickerson and Captain Cox joined him and the three went up to Johnson's room where they chatted for some time.

Jeff on Strike.

Out at Moana Springs, Jeffries went on strike for the day. He absolutely refused to do any work beyond a seven mile jaunt in the morning. Jim Corbett talked almost with tears in his eyes. "He ought to be going after it strong. I talked with him till I was black in the face but it did no good. Jeffries calmly informed everyone 'No' and went on his own way.'

To Battling Nelson, former lightweight champion, Jeffries was most cordial when the latter visited the Springs in the afternoon. Jeffries looked upon Nelson as a "great little fighter."

That the men close to the fighters are expecting a hard battle was indicated today in this message from Jim Corbett to Roger Bresnahan, manager of the St. Louis National Baseball team; "Look for a hard fight, Jeffries should win."

Local betting on fight livened up today. In one of the prominent gambling houses the following wagers were posted: $1,500 even that Johnson stays ten rounds; $300 to $500 that Johnson will win; $1,000 to $700 that Jeffries will win. All the offers were promptly covered.

Bob Vernon of New York, an old friend of Jeffries, is credited with the largest local wager, placed on the fight. It was stated at Jeffries camp that Vernon today put up $3,000 to $1,800 on Jeffries to win. A record of such a wager is reported by a local pool room.

Governor Dickerson said he would leave for Carson City tonight. He said he was perfectly satisfied after Johnson's workout and a talk with Jeffries that everything was as advertised and that the fight would not violate any Nevada law..

Yesterday's Odds.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—Betting on the big fight opened this morning at odds of 10 to 7, Jeffries being the favorite. Many wagers are being placed, and there is much Johnson money in sight.

FORMAL OPENING TENNIS COURTS

Friday's Garden Party at Victoria Club's New Quarters Will Be Largely Attended—Vancouver's Tournament

The garden party, which will be held on Friday afternoon at the Victoria Tennis club's new grounds opposite the Jubilee Hospital under the patronage of His Honor Lieut. Governor Paterson and Mrs. Paterson, promises to be one of the social events of the season. There are few Victorians who are not interested to an extent, in the grand summer sport and the majority are pleased at the enterprise displayed by the club in securing such fine courts and so much improved a pavilion for the convenience of the players. Therefore it is assured that the event will be largely attended both by active and non-playing members as well as by the general public.

One of the features will be the appearance, probably for the last time before their departure for the internationals at Spokane, of B. Schwengers and J. Cambie, Victoria's team entered for the Northwest titles.

As usual many of Victoria's players are interested in the Vancouver club's annual tournament. It will open July 25 and Miss Hotchkiss is expected to participate. In all probability there will be a large entry from this city.

The programme follows:

Bentlemen's Singles — Championship of mainland, B. C. Winner takes first prize and is entitled to hold the challenge cup for one year. The cup must be won three years in succession to become the property of any holder. Mr. J. C. Tyler, of Spokane, Wash., is the present holder.

Gentlemen's Doubles.

Ladies' Singles—Championship of mainland, B. C. Winner takes first prize and is entitled to hold the new challenge cup for one year. The cup must be won three years in succession before becoming the property of any holder.

Ladies' Doubles.

Mixed doubles.

Gentlemen's Singles (veterans) — Open to residents of British Columbia only. Special event for veterans, age limit 50 years and over. Winner is entitled to hold the challenge cup (presented by A. C. Flumerfelt, Esq.) for one year. The cup must be won three years in succession before becoming the property of any holder.

Boys—(17 and under)—Open to boys residing in Vancouver. For a cup (presented by A. McC. Creery, Esq.) to be won three years to become the property of any holder. Won last year by L. Baker.

Entrance fee—$1.00 for each player in any event.

Entries must be received by the secretary-treasurer on or before 6 p.m. on Thursday, July 21, 1910.

Entry fees payable in advance.

No second prizes will be given in any event for which there are less than eight entries.

Members of the club and competitors admitted free.

The rules of the Lawn Tennis Association of England will be observed.

Players must wear shoes with rubber soles without heels or spikes.

All matches will be decided by the best of three sets, except in finals in which men only are concerned, when the best of five will be played. Advantage sets in all cases.

Schwengers Who Plays For Tennis Title

PROGRAMME HAS BEEN REVISED

Complete List of Events For Next Weeks' International Regatta and Entertainment for Visitors.

SUMMARY OF YACHT RACE PROGRAMME

Sunday, July 3.—Finish of the 230 mile motor boat race and informal reception at the V. Y. C. Also arrival of yacht fleets from Vancouver, Bellingham, Seattle, Tacoma and Bellingham.

Monday—Opening races of Victoria club's regatta at 2 o'clock and band concert at officials' quarters, Dallas road. At 8 p. m. smoking concert at the Dallas hotel and annual meeting of the Pacific International Power Boat Association.

Tuesday—In forenoon novelty speed boat race. In afternoon (probable) dinghy races. From 8 to 11 band concert and garden party on grounds J. Arbuthnot's residence, Rockland avenue.

Wednesday — International yacht races starting at 2 p. m. At 8.30 p. m. buffet supper at Driard hotel, presentation of prizes, and annual meeting of Northwest International Yacht Racing Association.

Foregoing are the arrangements made for the aquatic feature of the season which the Victoria Club this season has the honor of conducting. As will be noted the entertainment of the thousand or more visitors expected has not been overlooked, in fact, it would appear from a cursory glance that it has been given even greater prominence than the sport. However, that isn't the case. During the four days that the yachtsmen of the Northwest will be here they will be busy on the water while their evenings it is almost superfluous to add will be fully occupied.

The preparations are practically complete. At any rate they have been advanced just as far as circumstances permit. The revised programme, showing the majority of the entries, is in the hands of the printers, and will be issued in a couple of days. According to it there are well-nigh a hundred actual competitors in the different events, while the management is assured that there will be others to hand at a later date. Besides the yachts that will take part there will be three times as many, to make a conservative estimate, which may be put down as "camp followers." The bulk of the yachts of the various cities identified with the International Association will gather to watch the struggles for the honors at stake, so that, the predictions made through these columns that the local harbor's accommodation was likely to be taxed to its utmost, is by no means an exaggeration.

Monday and Wednesday will be fully occupied with the Victoria and the International regattas, leaving Tuesday the only day which yachtsmen will find comparatively free. In the morning the visitors will see a motor boat race which promises to be one of the most exciting ever seen here. There are several local entries and a number are coming from Vancouver and Seattle. The conditions provide that the competitors shall start from scratch, regardless of their size or the power of the engine with which they are equipped. In the afternoon of the same day the strangers will be given an opportunity to see the city, or, at any rate, those who don't care to witness or who aren't directly interested in the dinghy boats. These, it is expected, will compete shortly after lunch. In the evening there will be a grand garden party at Mr. Arbuthnot's residence.

POINTER FOR THE LOCAL CRICKETERS

Victoria cricketers should take warning from the following important notice issued by the Marylebone cricket club: "The M. C. C. committee consider it necessary to call attention to objectionable, if not illegal, action on the part of batsmen, which the committee know from their own observation, and hear from members, is becoming a practice. After playing the ball, the batsman, if the ball is within his reach, knocks it back to the bowler, although his wicket is in no danger, thereby, in the opinion of the committee, infringing the spirit of Law 2. This is usually done when the wicket-keeper is standing back, and the committee have observed, not infrequently, cases in which an easy run ought to have been made. The committee venture to suggest that this is a bad practice, and hope that cricketers will support them by discontinuing it."

QUEEN TO TAKE PLACE OF SPOKANE

The steamer Queen is to take the place of the steamer Spokane for the next excursion trip to Alaska for the Pacific Coast Steamship Co., sailing from here on the morning of July 4th. The Spokane is to go on the Moran ways to be repaired and have her water tanks rearranged. She will make her next trip from here on July 13th.

The Spokane has returned to Seattle from her first trip with 150 excursionists, and C. D. Dunnan, general passenger agent of the Pacific Coast Steamship Co., who accompanied the excursionists, brought news setting at rest the reports that Father Duncan, of Metlakatlah intended to retire.

"Father Duncan emphatically denied that he had any intention of retiring," said C. D. Dunnan. "He said that his health was good, and that he liked the life and that it agreed with him. He said that his purpose was to stay at Metlakatla and end his days there.

"The conditions in the Metlakatla colony are changing, though," continued Mr. Dunnan. "This year many of the Indians were away in the spring fishing king salmon, at which they were making from $8 to $12 a day, and Father Duncan said that he was going to have a hard time getting the natives to work in the cannery at Metlakatla at $2.50 a day.

"To meet the changed conditions he said he was going to make an effort to interest the Indians in agricultural pursuits, the island containing large areas of good land, and he had arranged with Prof. C. C. Georgeson, of the United States agricultural stations in Alaska to come to the settlement and give it the benefit of his advice.

"We saw the first run of salmon in Funter bay, the first catch of 20,000 fish being brought in to the Thinklet cannery when the Spokane was there. I understand that the salmon run is now general in Southeastern Alaska, and all expect a big catch. At the Thinklet cannery, where they put up 90,000 cases last year, 125,000 cases will be put up this year.

Bark in Ice

Mail advices from Valdez, Alaska, under date of June 18th, state that the cannery bark, Star of Peru, was still fast in the ice in Bering Sea when the mail steamer Dora left Nushagak on June 2nd. The vessel belongs to the Alaska Packers' Association, and is loaded with men and supplies for the canneries at Nushagak. Steamer Kerchak is standing by the vessel awaiting an opportunity to tow her in when the ice opens up.

Admiral Casement Dead.

Mail advices from Ireland tell of the death of Rear Admiral John Casement, who as Captain Casement was in command of H. M. S. Amphion on the Esquimalt station in the nineties. Rear Admiral Casement saw active service in the Niger operations of 1876, for which he was promoted, and he was also engaged in the Arctic relief expedition of 1882, and held the Royal Humane Society's medal for saving a drowning bluejacket at Amoy, China. Since his retirement his health was not good.

Carmenuchi Dominick, an Italian navvy employed on the V. V. & E. grade, last Saturday made a murderous attack with a razor upon John Volpe, at Princeton. There was no quarrelling nor altercation between the men, and the affair was altogether treacherous and cold-blooded, for the assailant went to Thomas' store after they had been drinking and bought a razor with which he returned. Suddenly and without warning he slashed at Volpe, catching him first at the back of the neck; drawing the razor around to the windpipe he narrowly missed the jugular vein. The long wound while deep is not regarded as serious. Volpe was brought to the railway hospital at Hedley, while Dominick was subsequently apprehended by the police.

The building of a barbed wire fence has been the cause of closing Glencoe public school, Langley, for the past week, despite the fact that is examination time in the school. An injunction was granted to George Hunter and Francis Worrel, against the Langley school trustees, restraining them from interfering with a barbed wire fence erected by the plaintiffs near the school. The fence prevented the pupils from using the pump and other conveniences, and subsequently the school was closed. Mr. Justice Murphy, sitting in chambers Saturday, dissolved the injunction, and on the re-hearing of the case, stated in emphatic language that previously all the facts had not been brought out, and that he had no idea the granting of the injunction in the first case would close the school. Hunter and Worrel were ordered to pay all the costs of the second hearing, and an order was granted to the Langley school board for an enquiry into the damages they had sustained by the first injunction. The school board purchased the school property fifteen years ago, and have enjoyed undisturbed possession of it until recently, when the plaintiffs erected the fence around the portion of the ground claimed.

MARAMA HERE FROM SYDNEY

Brings Amongst Passengers Many Bound for Reno to See Champions Clash — Her Cargo

The Canadian-Australian liner Marama, 6,500 tons, Captain H. A. Morresby, arrived from Sydney, N. S. W., via Suva and Honolulu last evening at 8:15 o'clock, after a very quiet and uneventful trip. She had a fair cargo aboard, most of which will be landed at Vancouver. There were 276 sacks of mail matter, 14 local, 105 for Eastern Canadian points and 158 for United States points. The passenger list was unusually large.

The Marama departed from Sydney on the 6th inst., and called at Brisbane on the 8th. She reached Suva on the 13th, encountering fine weather and smooth sea on the trip between Australia and that port. She left Suva on the 14th, after discharging some cargo and landing and embarking passengers.

On the passage from there to Honolulu she enchantered heavy head seas and then ran into rain and squalls, which delayed the arrival at Honolulu until the afternoon of the 21st. Here a majority of the sportsmen who are proceeding to the fight at Reno disembarked and from there took passage to San Francisco. She left Honolulu at 1:30 a. m. on the morning of the 22nd, and experienced fine weather and a smooth sea during the remainder of the voyage.

There was an exceptionally large passenger list, there being a large number of sporting men, who were bound for the Jeffries-Johnson fight at Reno, Nev. Most of these disembarked at Honolulu, Fitzsimmons and Arthur Brusso only coming on here, where they embarked. "Fitz" will leave for San Francisco tomorrow morning on the Puebla, from where he will take the train for Nevada.

A large number of curious spectators gathered on the wharf in the expectation of seeing the fighters.

The Marama will stay in port until 11:30 o'clock this morning, discharging the cargo for this port, when she will leave for Vancouver. A large number of passengers left the ship here.

COLOR OF ICE CAUSES DISCUSSION

Officers of Steamer Princess May Report Phenomena Witnessed at Taku Glacier.

A strange phenomena was witnessed from the steamer Princess May, Captain McLeod, of the C. P. R. when she went close to Taku glacier on her way from Skagway to this port to give the round trippers a sight of the big icefields. Captain McLeod said yesterday morning that the great glacier was a deep blue color. "It was different in hue to any ice I have ever seen," he said, "and I bet if I had been able to get some of that ice and have it assayed it would give copper showings; at least that's how it seemed to me.

"But what's the use—all the Rockenheimers and Guggenfells couldn't get copper out of a glacier, could they?" said one of the engineers.

It was a strange phenomena, though, and it offered a topic of conversation throughout the voyage south. No solution was, however, forthcoming.

The Princess May brought 70 passengers south, of whom a dozen made the round trip.

News was brought that the Indian hunters of the sealing schooner Eva Marie are refusing to continue the voyage on the sealer which recently drifted ashore on Green Top island at the entrance to Port Simpson until the vessel has been surveyed. The Indians are willing to go when they are satisfied that the accident has not impaired the seaworthiness of the vessel. Meanwhile the police authorities have been called in and they are being placed on board. The Indians were signed at Kyuquot.

The Princess May took the rum of the Charmer last night and leaves for the north again on Friday.

The automobile overturned and pinned Robert Abel beneath it. The wreck was soon enveloped in flames, and passers-by who endeavored to rescue Abel were driven away by the heat.

J. MacKendrick, of Babine lake, sends the following note to the press under date of the 15th instant: "Today there landed here two carrier pigeons. They seemed very tired and were exceptionally hungry. On one leg of each bird was noticed a small aluminum ring. By means of some grain we capture one, but the other at once flew away in a southerly direction. Inscribed on the ring on the captured bird was engraved the following: 'V. H. C. 957, 1907.' On the bird being released it at once started off in the direction of its mate."

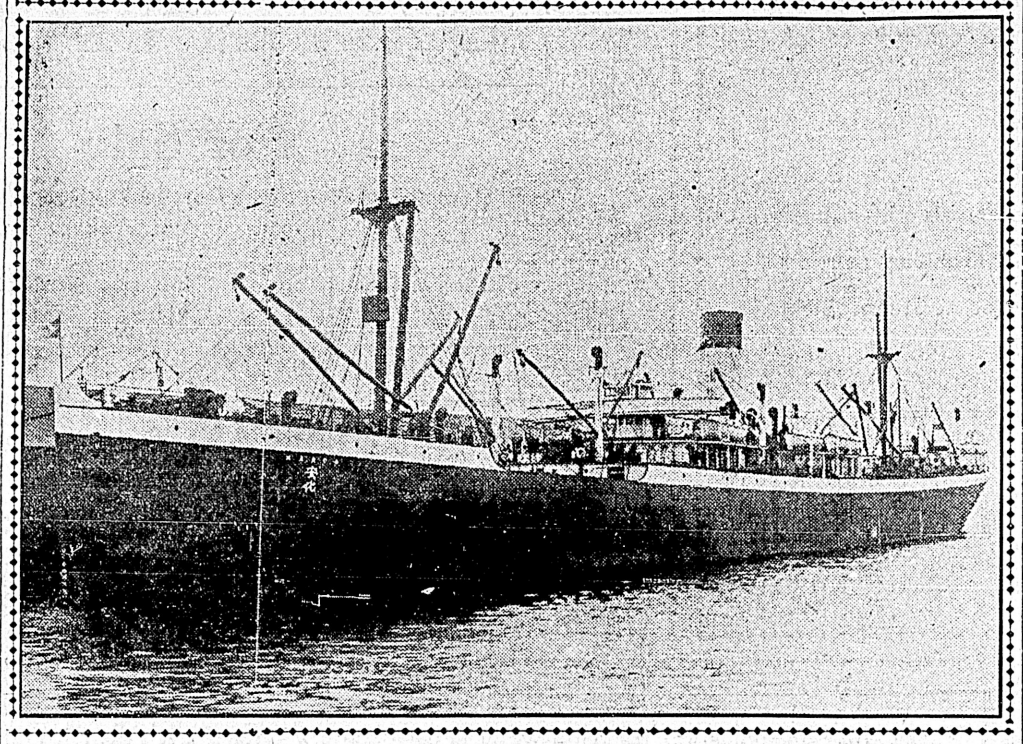
On the Waterfront

Fire on Board the Blue Funnel Liner Oanfa at Vancouver



VANCOUVER, June 28—Beginning at 11.35 o'clock last night, what looked for a time like a conflagration with almost unlimited possibilities for destruction, took place aboard the steamship Oanfa, tied up at Evans, Coleman & Evans' wharf. Huge volumes of thick, heavy smoke began without warning to pour forth from hold No. 5 in the aft of the vessel, and before they could be subdued or penetrated practically the entire city fire department had been called into requisition. The Evans' wharf is filled almost to capacity with merchandise of all kinds, and the Johnson wharf, separated by only a few yards of water, was exposed to danger nearly as great.

When the impenetrable smoke had been allayed sufficiently for the firemen to enter the hold of the vessel, it was found that a quantity of sawdust and waste wood, which had probably been smouldering for hours, was the cause of the scare. Owing to its peculiar situation, with no outlet but the open hold of the vessel, a cloud of smoke was formed which indicated a far more serious origin, for the destruction of an entire cargo could scarcely have given more threatening indications.

Once the seat of the trouble was reached, the fire was soon overcome, and examination showed that no great damage had been done.

LAW SUIT OVER YUCATAN

Litigation Expected to Arise Between Owners and Underwriters Before Settlement Is Reached Regarding Repairs

UNDERWRITERS WILL AWARD THE CONTRACT

Portland Firm to Get Work on the Low Bid Submitted by Them—Figured Low Anticipating Big Bill for Extras

That there will be a law suit between the Alaska Steamship Company and the underwriters involved in the insurance of the damaged steamer Yucatan now lying at the outer wharf seems certain. Efforts are being made to reach a compromise between the two interests, but so far they have been unavailing. The owners of the Yucatan maintain that their steamer is a constructive total loss and tender the abandonment of the vessel to the underwriters, who on the other hand say that they have salvaged the steamer and have prepared specifications for placing her in the same seaworthy condition as she was prior to the accident of February 15th last, and are prepared to make the repairs and hand the steamer back to the company. It was to save cost of dockage while the dispute continued that the Yucatan was temporarily repaired by order of the underwriters and taken to the outer wharf, where she can be moored at about one-ninth the cost of keeping her in the dry dock pending a settlement being reached.

That the underwriters will award a contract to the Willamette Iron & Steel Works for the repairs to the Yucatan is most likely. The underwriters will go on with the repairs in any event, whether any agreement is reached with the owners or not, and the Portland firm having submitted the lowest bid will get the contract. The agents of the Portland firm submitted a very low bid and it is understood that they made their tender so low with the idea of profiting with extras they considered as likely to be done by the owners.

C. P. R. BUYS A COAL CARRIER

Purchase the Old Bark William H. Case to Carry Coal from the Mines for the Company's Steamers.

The C. P. R. Company has recently purchased the coal carrier, William H. Case, to be used in coaling the coast steamers of the company. She was built at Rockland, Maine, in 1878, and was originally a barkentine. While still a new vessel she was dismasted in a gale and was afterwards rigged as a bark. After an adventurous and a rather unfortunate career she was converted into a coal hulk at Seattle.

Colima Disabled

The Mexican tug Colima, which is being brought from Manzanillo by Capt. E. J. Locke, a brother of Capt. L. J. Locke of the steamer Amur, put into San Pedro on Monday for repairs. The Colima, which is being brought to Seattle for sale, blew out several boiler tubes and will be delayed at San Pedro for about a week.

U. S. S. CRUISER AT ESQUIMALT

Yorktown Pays Visit to the Naval Harbor — Commander Won Commendation During Spanish War

The U. S. S. Yorktown, Capt. Victor Blue, is at Esquimalt and will remain moored to one of the naval buoys until tomorrow when she proceeds to Anacortes. The Yorktown came in on Monday and fired a salute of twenty-one guns. The garrison was taken by surprise, but the artillerymen rolled up to the saluting battery at Work Point and sometime afterward the old thirteen pounders belched back an answering salute. But they were not heard at Esquimalt where the impression prevailed that no answer had been made.

The Yorktown is a small cruiser of the same type as the Concord and Bennington, with displacement of 1710 tons and a complement of 175 men. She is 230 feet long, 36 feet beam, and 14 feet mean draught. Her armament consists of six six-inch guns, two six pounders, two three-pounders and four one pounders. She is armored with half an inch of steel on the deck and two inches on the conning tower. The vessel was built by the Cramp yards at Philadelphia in 1888.

Commander Victor Blue who is in charge of the Yorktown is one of the youngest commanders in the United States service. He was an ensign during the Spanish-American war and highly distinguished himself during the battle off Santiago, being commended to Congress for his work on that occasion. The other officers on board are: Lieut.-Commander E. F. Cockart, Executive officer, Ensigns C. C. Hartigan, Geo. Joerns, C. C. Windsor, J. E. Meredith, C. C. Thomas, F. A. Surgeon, M. E. Lando, Asst. Paymaster, P. T. M. Lathrop, and Pay Clerk, F. W. Foley.

HENLEY FOR MEXICAN TRADE

Steamer Chartered by Canadian-Mexican Line for Reorganized Service Reached Port Yesterday Morning

The steamer Henley, one of the big fleet of Watts-Watts freighters, chartered on time charter by the Canadian-Mexican Pacific Steamship Company, recently, re-organized by Capt. T. H. Worsnop, who was given a subsidy by the Ottawa Government for a Mexican steamship service and who has been using two steamers secured from British owners for some time past, reached port yesterday morning from Honolulu and proceeded to Comox, where she is to be delivered to Capt. Worsnop. The Henley came from Honolulu, and after passing quarantine proceeded to Comox where she will take on part cargo of coal, and will then proceed to Boat Harbor to load a further shipment before going to Vancouver to take cargo.

Capt. Worsnop, who met the Henley and proceeded to Comox on the vessel, states that his company is now in negotiation with the owners of two fine steamers with accommodation for thirty passengers and 6,000 tons of freight and if these were secured they would be promptly placed in the Canadian-Mexican service. Meanwhile the steamer Lonsdale will make at least one more trip. The contract with the steamers Georgia and Lonsdale has expired, and all accounts against the vessels will be closed up within ten days of the arrival of the Lonsdale from Salina Cruz in July. The Georgia, which is now lying at Vancouver, has been re-delivered to her owners and will probably be sent back to England.

BIG LINERS FOR PACIFIC

San Francisco Company Announces That Great Vessels of Atlantic Type Will Be Built at Cost of Three Million

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28.—The Pacific Mail Steamship company is to improve its trans-Pacific service by building two new vessels to cost $3,000,000 each. They will be of the most modern type and as luxurious as any steamship on the Atlantic.

The new boats will be modeled after the steamship George Washington, of the North German Lloyd line, which is said to be the best type of architectual magnificence afloat. The new steamers are to be 650 feet in length, with a 70-foot beam and a maximum draught of 33½ feet. They are to have 38,000 tons displacement, a dead tonnage weight of 8,000, and combined space measurement and tonnage of 22,000. There will be ample quarters for 500 cabin passengers, 150 second-class passengers and 700 in the steerage. Vice President Schwerin returned to San Francisco last night, following a conference with the board of directors of the company in New York, at which a decision was reached to order the new steamships.

The Pacific Mail company has for some time past been making complant that the steamers now used, the Mongolia, Korea, Siberia and other vessels were not payng expenses in the trans-Pacific trade.

TRICOLAR ARRIVES WITH NITRATE CARGO

Big Norwegian Freighter Discharging at the Victoria Chemical Works—Will Load for Cape Nome.

With a big consignment of nitrate from Chilian ports for the Victoria Chemical works the steamer Tricolor, one of the big fleets of the Norwegian owners, Wilhelmsen & Son, of Tonsberg, reached port from Nanaimo yesterday morning and moored at the wharf of the Victoria Chemical works. The Tricolor has been for some time past under charter to W. R. Grace & Co. for the west coast trade, and brought nitrate and ore from the South American ports, having 4,100 tons of nitrate and 2,200 tons of ore, which was consigned to the Tacoma smelter. She will be released after discharging and will proceed to Ladysmith to load a full cargo of coal from Ladysmith for Cape Nome on account of J. J. Sessnon & Co.

BROUGHT MUCH GOLD FROM THE NORTH

Nearly Two Tons of Pecrious Metal Landed at Seattle from Steamers Dolphin and Spokane.

SEATTLE, June 28.—Gold bricks from the Fairbanks banks weighing 45,000 ounces troy, valued at $837,000, and weighing more than one and one-half tons avoirdupois, arrived by express on the steamships Spokane and Dolphin from Skagway yesterday morning on consignment to the Washington Trust company, as correspondent. The gold will be taken to the United States assay office, after which it will be sent to the United States mint, probably at San Francisco. The gold will average $18.50 an ounce, as against $20.67 for pure metal.

So quietly was the shipment put aboard the steamers that few of the ship's officers knew that they were bringing a fortune in gold down with them. Insured from the moment it left the Northern banks, the gold was under strict guard until it reached the Seattle bank vaults and receipts were given. The shipment was not in the usual 100-pound bricks, but was in small oblong blocks weighing from twenty ounces to 100 pounds.

Every brick was numbered before it left the Northern banks, and the assay will be checked on each individual number.

FURTHER ADVANCE IN WHEAT PRICES

More Unfavorable Crop Advices Send Values Up to Higher Level—Lack of Rain the Price Factor

CHICAGO, June 28.—There appears to be constant efforts on the part of this trade to get away from the northwest's remarkable crop situation. The fact that the northwest had no rain this morning caused a jump in prices at the opening. One big house sold a million bushels on the first bulge. Other wire houses put a lot of long wheat on the market. This caused a reaction. The market made slow recovery from this decline up to the last hour. Then there was a return of high temperatures reported in North Dakota. Shorts became excited buyers as the market showed a good advance and those who sold out long wheat during the day made an effort to replace it. One element in the trade persists in selling on every swell on the theory that the avance has discounted the damage to the spring crop.

The bears have attemtped to make capital out of winter wheat offerings but later the advices from big cash people say that Illinois and southwest are selling wheat less freely than it was offered when prices were ten cents lower.

Awakening of Science

TO THE VALUE OF FRUIT

What Is "FRUIT-A-TIVES"?

Medical men are just beginning to realize the possibilities of fruit in curing disease. Its action on the liver, kidneys and skin is wonderful. Yet friut in its raw state is impracticable in treating disease because of the minute quantity of the active or curative principle contained in fruit juice.

A physician in Ottawa, after years of patient work, discovered a process whereby the medicinal or bitter principle of fruit juice is increased in quantity and thus a more active and more valuable substance is obtained. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit.

Hundreds of prominent people in every section of the Dominion owe their good health to "Fruit-a-tives." Hundreds more are daily becoming stronger and better by taking them. "Fruit-a-tives" is daily proving its inestimable value as a natural cure in all cases of Constipation, Biliousness, Torpid Liver, Backache and Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Kidney and Skin Troubles.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box 25c. Sold by all dealers, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

I, Alexander Simpson hereby give notice that one month from the date hereof I will apply to Superintendent of Provincial Police at Victoria, B. Mining Department.

EDITED BY WILLIAM BLAKEMORE, M.I.M.E. MEMBER CANADIAN MINING INSTITUTE, GREENWELL GOLD MEDALIST NORTH of ENGLAND INSTITUTE of MINING ENGINEERS 1904

Firedamp Was Never Detected

The colliery was ventilated by a Schiele fan, 6 ft. in diameter, fixed near the top of the upcast shaft and driven by a steam engine. It ran at 306 r.p.m., and produced abut 20,000 cubic feet of air per minute, with a water gauge of 12 in. The mine produced a considerable quantity of water, which was drained to three pumps, worked by compressed air, and by them forced to the shaft, where it was raised by a pumping engine on the surface. Naked lights were used throughout the mine, and during the whole life of the colliery firedamp had never been detected, while none was observed after the explosion. Blackdamp was found in old workings and unventilated places. Attached to the report, which, of course, has been submitted to the secretary of state for the home department, is a plan showing the shafts, plans and workings, the direction of the air current and of indications of force and the positions in which the bodies were found. The inspectors say that the major portion of the roads and workings were wet or damp, but portions of the main intake and haulage road were dry and dusty, and it was on this road that the explosion occurred. In the vicinity of the downcast shafe the road was wet and from the shaft to the top of the drift the floor was partly wet and partly dry and dusty. The main drift was dry and moderately dusty for about 300 yards from the top, and from that part the floor was wet for a considerable distance; the roof and sides gradually becoming damp also. The return airways and workings generally were damp and free from coal dust.

Coal Is Dropped From Cars

On the dry portion of a haulage road the coal dust was produced from dust and coal which was blown and fell from the cars. The ordinary cars in South Wales drop much dust and coal all the way from the fact to the shaft. Comparatively speaking, however, no part of the road was excessively dusty, nor was the dust of a particularly fine or dry nature. The following is an analysis of the coal producing the dust

Volatile hydrocarbons	21.64
Fixed carbon	70.13
Sulphur	2.01
Ash	4.92
Moisture	1.30

The rescue operations are surveyed by the inspectors, which, they say, add another to the many previous examples of the danger of advancing into air contaminated with afterdamp. The five would-be-rescuers were not afforded the protection of breathing appliances, a manager, an under-manager, two firemen and a contractor sacrificing themselves in consequence The report says that such hasty procedure not only endangers the lives of the explorers, but may delay and derange the course of properly conducted rescue operations.

The Danger of Carbon Monoxide.

It should be remembered that carbon monoxide may be present in dangerous proportion without affecting lights, and that inexperienced persons are therefore liable to run into danger As pointed out by Dr. Haldane, the eminent British authority, the only practicable indicator of this gas is a small animal such as a mouse or a canary, the suggestion seeming to be that one should be taken down by persons responsible for exploration and rescue operations after explosions and fires. Besides, the effect of carbon monoxide is cumulative, and if the rescuers advance until only slightly affected, the difficulty in retracing their steps to pure air is often very great The inspectors are emphatic in their declaration that in the Darran explosion, when it was seen that the men at the top of the drift were killed and the air bridge destroyed, no further advance should have been made until ventilation was restored

Explosion Caused By Misplaced Shot

Regarding the cause of the explosion, a fall had occurred on the main drift, and a fireman seems to have fired four charges on the stone to break it up, thus firing the dust. This stone, which had fallen from the roof, was found on the main drift about 200 yards below the barn. It was irregular in shape, but 11 ft. 6 in. on the longest side by 6 ft. 5 in. at the widest part and about 2 ft. thick on one side, tajering to thinner edges on the other side and ends. The positions of the men above and below this fall of stone, and of the tools near the stone, were consisten with the firing of a shot, and in the absence of any other probable means of ignition, the inspectors think that there is no reasonable doubt that the explosion was caused by the firing of an explosive on the fallen stone. They say that apprehension of the dangers of coal dust has not become general among miners. The fireman, no doubt, knew that it was contrary to rules to fire explosives except in a shot hole, but it is probable he did not realise that the result might be a disastrous explosion. The practice of breaking fallen stones by explosives, even when in shot holes, is a dangerous proceeding when dry coal dust is present, and in such cases should never be undertaken without copious watering.

PRINCE RUPERT USES HER FULL POWER

Delayed in Leaving Vancouver by Coaling and Securing More Firemen.

VANCOUVER, June 28.—The G. T. P. steamer Prince Rupert scheduled to sail for Prince Rupert at 11.30 o'clock last night did not get away until noon today. Cutting out the call at Union for coal, the vessel was obliged to take her bunker fuel here from a scow and not much time was allowed for this job. The consequence was that it was 11.30 this morning before the coal was aboard, and a further delay was caused by the fact that the Prince Rupert will on this trip use all her six boilers, and extra firemen are necessary. Some difficulty was experienced in getting the extra help but the vessel will be steamed north under full power and is expected to cut hours off the record.

Monteagle Sails.

VANCOUVER, June 28.—The liner Monteagle sailed today for Yokohama and Hongkong and took out the usual big shipments of lumber, flour, cotton machinery, tobacco, canned goods and general merchandise. She has a new commander, for Mr. Dixon-Hopcraft, R. N. R., formerly chief officer of the Empress of Japan, went out as skipper of the Monteagle.

Stewart Now Port of Entry.

VANCOUVER June 28.—The steamer Camosun of the Union Steamship Co.'s fleet which is in port today from Prince Rupert and Stewart, brings word that Stewart is now a port of entry, and all vessels must enter and clear there. Formerly the customs at Prince Rupert controlled the Stewart business, but an officer has now been sent to the head of the canal. The Camosun brought saloon passengers south, among whom were Mr. Erskine Smith, owner of the Red Cliffe mine.

FALLING HAIR STOPPED

Baldness Cured by Destroying the Parasitic Germ That Causes It

Baldness follows falling hair, falling hair follows dandruff; and dandruff is the result of a germ digging its way into the scalp to the root of the hair where it saps the vitality of the hair. To destroy that germ is to prevent as well as cure dandruff, falling hair, and, lastly, baldness. There is only one preparation known to do that, Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new, scientific discovery. Wherever it has been tried it has proven wonderfully successful. It can't be otherwise, because it utterly destroys the dandruff germ. "You destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. One dollar bottles guaranteed. Cyrus H. Bowes, special agent, 1228 Government street.
